Martin Is Democratic Pick

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
As he predicted Monday night, GOP Sheriff William B. Martin "is not out of the race" for reelection. Although the Republican Party failed to nominate him earlier this week, the Democrats came through Wednesday night in convention — perhaps because as former Democratic Chairman James McCardle said, "anyone who sits out there and says 'Bill Martin can't help us win the election is a fool!'"

But, Martin's nomination brought both applause and some boos from the 269 delegates who cast their ballots giving Martin 143 votes — the needed majority over his two opponents, Yvonne Walliser who polled 59 and Floyd Krom, who received 57. Ten delegates abstained.

Martin was not at the convention as he was at the GOP conclave Monday night, but his wife was. Mrs. Martin addressed the Democrats very briefly saying, "Those who don't vote for him, make a terrible mistake."

County Chairman Harold Brown, who earlier said he would have preferred to "run a Democrat for the post," commented on Martin's victory, saying he thinks "Martin will be a winner." He called his nomination "a great reflection on Chairman of the Legislature Peter J. Savago and members of the County Board for not providing funds for the Sheriff's Department."

A move on the part of Vice Chairman Kay Quick to table any endorsement of a candidate for sheriff failed to receive support of the convention although there were those that agreed with her.

It was Mrs. Quick's husband, Alderman Donald Quick, who nominated Krom.

The move to postpone endorsement brought forth comments from those who felt that committeemen had the right to place names in nomination. Former minority leader of the Ulster County Legislature Roger Mabie, said that "no one has been more disappointed in the actions of the sheriff," but, it is a matter of principle . . . the best way to disapprove is by the way you vote." Mabie was once Sheriff Martin's campaign manager.

Martin was nominated by Marlboro Supervisor Michael J. Canosa who told the delegates "you owe it to yourselves" to nominate Martin. He said the Democrats rightfully, advocate and support candidates who have courage and a commitment to serve the public interest, impartially and unselfishly. "Sheriff Martin has in my personal opinion upheld, without blemish, this high purpose."

"Bill Martin is a winner," he said. "No political party owns him or controls him."

Reflecting on Martin's present options which offer him the choice of accepting the Democratic nomination, running in a Republican primary against the GOP candidate Special Investigator Thomas Mayone or running independently, Canosa said, "it is his decision to make and when he reaches a decision, one way or another, I for one will respect his decision . . ."

McCardle said he read the mood of the convention as one of "wanting to win elections." He described the charges against Martin as "petty" adding that "sure the sheriff has had problems . . . he'll have more, but he is the best sheriff the county has ever had."

Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic who seconded the nomination, said he felt Martin could help the rest of the ticket.

"He can meet people and turn their minds over and vote Democratic," he suggested.

"Everyone is entitled to a mistake," he said, concerning Martin's recent problems with jail inmates and administration.

Mrs. Walliser of Saugerties, who has a degree in sociology, was the only one of the three candidates for sheriff to attend and address the convention. She was critical of Martin's leadership abilities and the high cost of maintaining the jail. She stressed education, rehabilitation and counseling.

Krom, a 21-year member of the Kingston Police Department, 11 years as a detective was active in the Democratic campaign for Robert Morgenthau when he ran for governor. He has attended a number of police and FBI schools and reportedly enrolled as a Democrat within hours of the convention, (4:45 p.m.)

Dems Complete Slate At County Conclave

KINGSTON

Anticipating a good election year, Ulster County Democrats had candidates galore Wednesday night in convention, necessitating two contests — one for Congress in the 27th District and the other for sheriff of Ulster County. A third contest for coroner never materialized.

It was a four-way bid for the 27th District congressional nomination with the Ulster County candidate, William Schechter of Lake Hill, emerging victorious over Michael Sloan of Binghamton, Matthew McHugh of Ithaca and Robert Kropp of Binghamton.

Schechter polled 64 votes, Sloan, 30, McHugh, 17 and Kropp, 0.

Nominated by Rose Koplovitz, Schechter said he "thought it would be close" and Sloan said previously, he thought he "would make a good showing." Schechter seeks the seat being vacated by Republican Rep. Howard Robison.

District, the delegates "retiring the Fish family from nominated former Congressman politics." He said incumbent John Dow, who it was reported Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. has received the endorsement of the Rockland County Democratic convention the same night Mrs. Dow appeared here for him.

Dow of Newburgh, was nominated by Marc Fried of Shawangunk, who called him "a man of indisputable honesty." State Democratic Committee-est, Dow seeks the incumbent GOP Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman's seat. Gilman defeated Dow two years ago.

In the 25th District race for Congress, Nicholas Angell of Putnam County was the choice once again gave him the nomination of the Ulster Democratic convention which met in the George Washington School. Nominated by Dr. Frieda Martens, Angell Hinchey suggested that the "insaid he was interested in integrity of the New York State Legislature cannot be re-established until we eliminate all possibility of conflict of interest between the public and private purpose of its members."

He said he felt that "we have to take our government back into our own hands. We have to elect people from among ourselves who understand our mutual problems — people we can trust."

The 90th Assembly District nomination went to Philip Magnarella of Dutchess County who was nominated by John Huluska of Marlboro who labeled the incumbent Assemblyman Republican Emeel Betros "self-serving — a lack luster candidate."

Magnarella predicted he will win because the people "need new direction."

Two men were nominated to run for State Senate in the 40th and 48th State Senatorial Districts.

Highland Falls Mayor King James Weyant was nominated by City Democratic Chairman Lawrence Woerner who said Weyant proposes to be a full time senator.

Weyant, speaking of corruption in Washington, said, "every day a scandal." He suggested that the same applies to New York State, saying he calls it "legal corruption" and calling for house cleaning. Weyant seeks to unseat Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn of Cornwall.

John Bonilla of Woodstock, nominated former Ulster County Legislator Alex J. Nirenberg for State Senate in the 48th District where Republican Edwyn E. Mason is senator.

Nirenberg predicted that he

11 Nabbed in 'Drug Factory' Raid

By MATT SPIRENG

TOWN OF ATHENS

Four Ulster County residents and seven other persons were arrested on felony drug charges Wednesday as state police and federal agents raided what they called a clandestine drug laboratory set up in a house trailer in the Greene County Town of Athens.

Police said a hallucinogenic drug known as MDA (methamphetamine) — said to have aphrodisiac qualities — was being produced in the lab. The homemade, but complicated equipment set up in the laboratory could have produced more than 50 pounds of the substance with an estimated street value of up to $1 million.

Law enforcement officials raided the laboratory just as it was in the process of being moved to another location — believed to be in the Woodstock area — police said.

Six search warrants were executed simultaneously at four separate locations, including two Ulster County residences, at the time of the raid.

The four Ulster County residents who were among those arrested were identified as Robert Manello, 37, of 149 Spring Street, Kingston, Michael Steelberg, 27, of Woodstock, originated in Atlanta, Ga.,

Florida and New York. Others arrested were David Manello, 32, of Catskill, Eugene Paluch, 24, and his wife, Janet, 23, of Catskill, Dennis McGowan, 22, of Poughkeepsie, Edward Wroblewski, 23, of Poughkeepsie, George Raptis, 24, of Atlanta, Ga., and John Bingham, 31, of Richmond Va.

The raid climaxed the lengthy investigation by state police and Federal Drug Enforcement Administration officials.

Police said that on Tuesday night an explosion occurred in the laboratory as they were police said.

A grand jury was slated to be convened today in Ulster County to begin hearing testimony in the case, state

County OKs Court House Renovation

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Legislature, despite strong opposition from the Democratic minority, authorized Wednesday night a contract with architect Albert E. Milliken for plans to renovate the County Court House on Wall Street.

Herbert Hekler, County Planning Board director, spoke to legislators about plans for the building at an afternoon executive session, but Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-city), minority leader, said Hekler had been "short-changed" in his presentation. Gorman called the resolution vague and asked for more time to study it. Several other Democrats also asked for more time.

They were opposed by Robert H. Kuhlmann (R-Dist. 7), chairman of the sponsoring County Buildings Committee.

Kuhlmann said the committee had been working on the matter for some time and its reports were available for study.

Gorman's motion to table the resolution was downed by a 21-8 vote and the resolution was passed by a 20-11 margin. William R. West (R-Dist. 4) then moved to reconsider the resolution but was defeated in a party line vote.

A resolution was passed changing legislators' terms from two to four years, subject to a mandatory public referendum to be held Primary Day, Sept. 10. Glenn A. Debrosky (R-Dist. 6) moved to have the bill referred back to the Elections Committee with recommendations that legislators be required to make full financial disclosure and that terms be staggered so that half of the legislators would be elected each two years, but was voted down.

A motion to make $5,000 available for a performance of the American Wind Symphony Orchestra at Aug. 2 dedication ceremonies of the new county park in the Town of Ulster was downed by a 23-8 margin.

West said the money could be used for improvements at the park. George Barthel (D-Dist. 7) said "not into the park was limited and when county employees are in desperate need of money," and of the county "don't even have good roads to get to a park."

In the closest vote of the night, legislators approved 19-12 a resolution to hire architects Eugene Houck and Louis Mignone, Greenman and Pederson to prepare plans for a swimming pool, bath houses, access roads and parking areas at the county park in New Paltz. Resnick, Eugene Perry (D-City) and Joan H. Dwyer (D-City) all opposed it because they felt the money should not be spent when county employees were receiving such low pay, but George Sisti (R-Dist. 8) pointed out that the county already owns the land and that revenue sharing funds are available for the work.

Other measures approved by the legislators as they waded through a lengthy 37-item agenda included:

● Opposing any rate increases for the New York Telephone Company so long as the assessed valuation of certain equipment is held to the level of the Dec. 31, 1974, tax roll.

● Authorizing $64,500 for a summer recreation program for economically disadvantaged youth through the Kingston YMCA.

He was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate John B. Garity Wednesday in Poughkeepsie and was released on $7,500 bail, pending later court appearances.

He faces a $10,000 fine and ten years in jail on each felony charge lodged. At least three charges have been lodged, federal officials said.

'Shoving' Problem on Rondout Creek Bridge

Buckling asphalt in the northbound lane on the Kingston side of the Rondout Creek Bridge is "under study" according to a spokesman for the regional office of the New York State Department of Transportation. Trucks braking for a traffic light are causing a two-inch layer of asphalt to shift on the bridge which was reopened Dec. 1 of last year after several months of renovations. The "shoving" problem is not unique, the DOT spokesman said. Various methods of corrective action are being considered, some of which could apparently result in the closing of at least one lane. A decision is expected next week. Meanwhile, the bridge is safe, according to the DOT. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Lawmakers Hear 'Glen Street Request'

KINGSTON Alderman Brian Smith (R-3rd Ward), appeared before the 4 p.m. session of the Ulster County Legislature Wednesday to ask that Glen Street be closed to traffic for the new County Infirmary on Golden Hill.

Smith noted that the legislature's Social Services Committee had met with Third Ward residents before construction began on the infirmary and a decision was reached to close Glen Street to infirmary traffic and to build a concrete structure to keep vehicles out.

"Unfortunately, this never came about," Smith said. "For what reason, I don't know."

Smith said that a later meeting with Mayor Francis R. Koenig and the Social Services Committee a decision was made to open the street and a chain stretched across it was removed.

"This decision didn't meet with my approval, the residents of the Glen Street area, or with most of the elected officials of the city, including city legislators," Smith said.

He asked why county legislators had built an entrance to the Infirmary off Route 32 at an estimated $175,000 which wasn't being fully utilized. He said that Glen Street is narrow in many spots, is in constant need of repair, has numerous blind spots, and runs through a residential area "overpopulated with young children."

Smith chided legislators, particularly the Social Services

Committee, for "refusing the taxpayers in the Glen Street area the hearing or meeting I requested for them. I was truly embarrassed when I had to tell these people they couldn't voice themselves. What were you afraid of?"

Smith invited legislators to visit the area on a Sunday afternoon to see "what the people in this area have to put up with" and called on them to help ease the situation by closing the street.

Beef Solution Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-ranking government farm spokesman said today the administration hopes to help hard-pressed cattlemen out of their current income depression without resorting to controls on imports of foreign beef.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter said in an interview he believed beef imports would be held substantially below the earlier-predicted level of 1.375 billion pounds by using informal persuasion with Australia and other beef exporters. He also said exporters should be reluctant to ship beef at current low prices.

Cattle industry spokesmen and a growing number of farm belt lawmakers have been pressing the administration to reinstate formally the import controls, suspended by President Nixon nearly two years ago when U.S. beef supplies were low. Such action would hold imports this year to about 1.1 billion pounds instead of the total of roughly 1.3 billion which some administration officials speculate may be reached without controls.

been losing money for the past few months. The Senate Agriculture Committee overrode Butz's objections Wednesday and approved a bill authorizing up to $3 billion in government credit guarantees for "bona fide" cattle, hog, poultry and dairy producers.

Under the bill, the Agriculture Department would guarantee private lenders against loss on up to 90 per cent of loans to livestock producers at regular commercial interest rates. Individual producers or feedlot operators could get guarantees covering up to $1 million in credit.

Yeutter said that as far as reducing beef imports was concerned, the important thing to farmers was "the ultimate result" rather than the machinery used to get it.

"If the ultimate result (of lower imports) can be achieved without using quotas, why accept the disadvantages of quotas," he asked. Using formal control action would hamper U.S. efforts to reduce trade barriers in other countries, he said.

Study Shows Humans Eat Dog, Cat Food

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As much as one third of the dog and cat food sold in city slums is being eaten by humans, a food study group has told the Senate.

The 26-member panel said it questioned a small sample of residents of low income communities around the country about their eating habits.

"We also asked... whether or not people in the neighborhood thought pet food might be a good buy when food money was short," the food and nutrition experts said. "Most answered that they knew people who bought dog food pretty regularly—mostly Alpo."

The panel quoted Agriculture Department statistics showing pet food sales increased by 12 per cent during the first nine months of last year.

The numerical estimate that one third of the pet food sold in slums is being eaten by humans came from the private Center for Science in the Public Interest, the report said.

"For areas with high proportions of elderly poor, the estimates were even higher," it added.

The 185-page report said panel members were present during a federal survey in New York State when a mother told dietitians she fed her family dog food. The report said, "All that interested the interviewer was the quality of pet food, how much protein vitamin B-1 or calcium it contained."

The report was presented at the opening Wednesday of three days of hearings by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs by panel chairman Ronald F. Pollack, a lawyer and director of the New York-based Food Research and Action Center. The panel also included nutritionists, economists, government workers and poor people.

One panelist, government consultant Nancy Amidel, told the committee: "Adequate income means never having to eat dog food."

The report said the nation's poor were hungrier now than they were several years ago, despite major advances in government food programs, because inflation was eating up the grocery baskets of the poor faster than the government could fill them.

Show-Cause in Rosendale

By JON POWERS

ROSENDALE Supreme Court Justice George L. Cobb signed a show-cause order Wednesday requiring the Rosendale Zoning Board and the Rosendale Village Board to justify procedures that led to approval of a proposed 168-unit condominium development on Creek Locks Road.

Five "interested property owners" in the village have filed a petition with the court requesting that a Zoning Law amendment and a special use permit—both of which were essential for ultimate approval of the project—be declared null and void.

The show-cause order is returnable in State Supreme Court in Kingston on July 5 before Supreme Court Justice John L. Larkin.

On May 22, the Rosendale Zoning Board of Appeals granted a special use permit that allows the condominium project to maintain a greater population density than is permitted under the village's zoning ordinance. Prior to that, the village board granted a variance permitting construction of a multiple family residence in an area zoned for single family homes.

The petitioners are Antoinette D. Larrabee, Warren L. Larrabee, Stanley F. Slater, Carol Anne Slater and Joan Lewis—all of whom own property near the proposed 13.5-acre site for the condominium.

The petitioners, represented by Rosendale attorney William P. Curran, cite nine separate points which they feel prove that the zoning amendment is illegal, and should therefore be declared null and void. Those points include:

• The amendment states that the property shall be changed from an R-2 to R-3 classification, even though it was originally designated as R-1.

• Proper authorities, including the Town of Rosendale Planning Board, Zoning Board and Town Board, as well as the Ulster County Planning Board, were never notified that the change was being considered.

• The amendment does not conform to the overall development plan of the village, which indicated that part of the property should be used for a sewage disposal plant, and the rest for a village recreation area.

• The amendment constitutes spot zoning, since there is already a single family house located on the property.

The petitioners listed 13 separate points alleging that the special use permit was issued illegally. Among the points included are:

• "The Zoning Board of Appeals exceeded its authority, abused its discretion and acted without sufficient legal grounds and basis." Specifically, the petitioners charge that an environmental impact statement was never prepared and that written consent for the project was never received from the Ulster County Health Department, the Department of Environmental Conservation, Department of Transportation, Ulster County

Highway Department and the Army Corps of Engineers.

• The Zoning Board of Appeals has no power because it is illegally constituted. The petitioners claim that, contrary to state law, ZBA members serve unspecified terms of office and one member has never signed an oath of office.

• The Zoning Board of Appeals made certain decisions at informal meetings, did not publish minutes of those meetings and did not make its activities a matter of public record.

The petitioners also contend that the condominium would have a devastating impact on the village, and could very well double the population of Rosendale. And, they claim that there is no guarantee that the village will not have to supply drinking water to the project.

Perhaps the most interesting point raised by the petitioners is their contention that the developer, Mario Renda, doesn't even own all the land he intends to build on. The petitioners claim that part of the land used to be the north channel of the Rondout Creek (before it was filled in when the Rosendale Flood Control Project was constructed). They claim that the state owned the creek bed, so it still owns the fill that now covers the creek bed.

Construction on the project has not yet begun. It is expected that construction will be delayed until the court makes a decision.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 20, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General Ted Klassen has collected several thousand dollars in secret fees from a firm doing business with the Postal Service.

While he was Deputy Postmaster General, he intervened personally to help the Martin E. Segal Company earn a 15 per cent commission on a half-million-dollar postal contract.

Then he moved up to the Board of Governors, which controls the Postal Service. Unknown to the other governors, he accepted "management consultant fees" from the Segal company while he was serving on the board.

When my associate Jack Cloherty confronted him with our findings, Klassen admitted he had received around $20,000 from the firm. Our investigation determined that the payments totaled $22,917.67.

The Board of Governors, meanwhile, elected Klassen as the nation's 60th Postmaster General. Not long after ward, the Segal firm was back angling for postal contracts. It landed a $50,000 contract, although its bid astonishingly was more than double the lower entry.

Ted Klassen is a tall, stern, impressive figure with a tired, sagging face. He rose from office boy to president of American Can Company before President Nixon recruited him to bring his business skills to the Postal Service.

Instead, we have exposed a record of misspending and mismanagement. Klassen cut back postal workers and slowed down the mails during the 1972 election campaign, we reported, in order to avoid raising postal rates and antagonizing the voters against Nixon.

While the mail service deteriorated, we wrote, he lavished postal funds on himself for everything from a penthouse dining room to Christmas presents for his friends. He also padded the postal payroll with his cronies and handed out contracts to favored companies.

Although these boondoggles cost the taxpayers much more than the Segal company collected, Klassen's dealings with this firm constitute a clear conflict of interest and an apparent violation of the law. Here are the details:

On March 5, 1970, the firm's founder and namesake, Martin E. Segal, wrote a personal letter to Klassen in behalf of a client, Retirement Advisers, Inc., which wanted a contract to produce retirement literature for postal employees.

Postal employees already could get all the retirement literature they needed from the Civil Service Commission. Nevertheless, Klassen agreed to award Segal's client a five-year, half-million-dollar contract. The Segal firm's take was 15 per cent.

After Klassen already had agreed to the contract, he instructed personal aides to make out the paperwork that would justify the deal. Then he tried to hide the transaction by entrusting the Segal file to a loyal aide who kept it under lock and key. (We got hold of the file anyway.)

The following year, Klassen began collecting secret fees from the Segal Company which retained him, he told us, because of his expertise as a labor relations expert. He insisted that he could see nothing at all wrong with this.

He also denied advance knowledge of the subsequent $50,000 contract which was awarded to the Segal firm in March 1973, when Klassen was PMG. Yet the company got the contract even though it was one of the highest bidders.

Martin Segal told us he earned no money personally from the company's good fortune. He said he is now an unpaid consultant to the company he founded.

Footnote: Last week, the Washington Post documented in a series of articles how the Postal Service under Klassen is ridden with waste and inefficiency, resulting in higher costs and slower mail service. The series by Ronald Kessler, a painstaking reporter, showed that first-class mail users are overcharged and, therefore, are subsidizing the "junk mail."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: The Watergate prosecutors have drafted a favorable, secret pre-sentencing report on ex-White House hatchman Charles Colson, acknowledging they would have had difficulty convicting him. The likelihood, therefore, is that he will get a light sentence. . . . Washington skeptics suspect Colson's sudden embrace of Christianity was a scaffold conversion. But members of his prayer circle are convinced his heart has changed. They come to his office daily for prayers. They also spent weeks helping him fill a huge scrapbook of clippings to dramatize to the court that he couldn't get a fair trial.

Washington's controversial International Police Academy, which provides training for foreign police as part of our foreign aid program, amazingly, also trains security guards for overseas corporations. Guards have been sent to the school from the Arabian American Oil Co., Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of Liberia, Saudi Arabian Airlines, the Liberian-American Mining Co. and the Creole Petroleum Corp. of Venezuela. An AID spokesman assured us that, except for a $9 insurance premium for each student, the corporations reimburse the U.S. government for the training. . . .

Following our recent analysis of the foreign aid program, the agency's public information officers were provided with "guidance" in answering anticipated press inquiries. The official line was that the accuracy of our figures could not be challenged, only our "slant."

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Orwellianism in Reverse

WASHINGTON — Winston Smith, a poor fellow with a virulent ulcer on his right ankle, whose only suit of clothes is a set of overalls, is the hero of the most famous, the most frequently alluded-to book written in the past 25 years. It is only 10 years from that date, but the number 1984 has long since become a word and an idea with all who speak English.

Orwellian is a universally understood adjective, and while some people might have trouble identifying such items from the book as Ingsoe and Newspeak. Big Brother is now so often used that many who employ the name probably do not know that he was the mustachioed tyrant and chief du parti who presided over Oceania, one of the three superpowers which, by 1984, have divided the earth and live in perpetual war with each other.

1984 is the description of our life after the political apocalypse, and, as such, no biblical promise paradise is believed with more tenacious faith. 1984 is the common doom that Americans of every political persuasion believe is being prepared for them by their enemy, the government. Each new incident of wire tapping, snooping, computer control or official doublethink, to use the Orwellian word that describes the kind of mind which can name that five-sided house of death the Department of Defense, every new manifestation of bureaucratic remoteness is seized upon by most of us as evidence that 1984 has come one day closer.

Now it is only 10 years away, but anyone who reads the book and compares it with what is going on has to concede that 1984 is way behind schedule. The world that George Orwell warned us about was a perversion of the socialist dream. Big Brother himself, insofar as he resembled anyone, reminded the reader of Stalin, who was very much alive in those immediate postwar years when many assumed the future was some hue of red. Doubtless, it was as a convinced socialist who thought so, too, that Orwell wrote his warning.

In the book an inner party elite, operating through modern technology, controls a vast mass of toiling proletarians too ignorant and too confused to understand their own exploitation. Our inner party elite is a small clutch of weirdo Christian Scientists abetted by a demode Jesuit. True, our leaders have the rough equivalent of Orwell's ubiquitous telescreens that kept the population of Oceania under perpetual surveillance, but our crowd gets gummed up in its own equipment. They plant their electronic bugs on us from time to time, but most of all they are suspicious of each other. Kissinger taps or doesn't tap four newspapermen and 13 of his own closest collaborators. . . . I don't have anybody in my office I can trust except Colonel (now General) Alexander Haig," says Kissinger, according to FBI documents, upon getting the fruit of the electronic eavesdropping, called "coverage" by Nixonian doublethinkers. But this is 1984 gone screwy, the inner party raving, spying and screwing each other in the most monolithic way. The tools that according to the prophecy in the book, they were going to use to enslave us, they are using one each other.

In 1984 the government knows everything about us; in 1974, we know everything about the government. The Orwellian despots ruling in the name of a socialism which they don't practice keep their control over the citizenry by the most intimate knowledge, not only of deeds but thoughts and emotions. Our government, with all its data banks, knows less and less about us. We know everything about them. Big Brother is so remote that poor Winston isn't even sure he exists. He sits over Oceania like a sun low on the way to Sin Stop to see an X-rated movie? What will be the municipal mechanics by which the corner movie house will actually be prevented from showing that which is permitted to be shown elsewhere? Will zoning laws prevail over direct appeals to the First Amendment?

The success of the old Red Light District rested, really, on pre-constitutionalist dispositions, effected by the fiat of the ruler, unavailable for appeal on generic grounds. The conventional idea was to outlaw vice, but to agree to ignore it within certain bounds in the city. So that those who sought to practice it outside those bounds were not only violating the law, but were inviting penalties.

In the United States we are given to pragmatic solutions, and it is generally agreed that, for instance in certain areas in Harlem, peaceful bookmakers are not going to be disturbed by the police, though they would be if they started to practice their wares openly on Madison Avenue. The current civil libertarian mood in America argues against such pragmatic solutions. Even as the secularists argued that to recite a common prayer in New York City's public schools whose formulation was satisfactory to priests, ministers and rabbis, was a violation of the First Amendment, someone in Boston is sure to insist that pornography being a general right, it is a violation of the Constitution to insist that people take the subway to Sin Stop in order to exercise that right.

A year ago the Supreme Court wrote a decision that appeared to inconvenience, once again, the obscenity peddlers. As a matter of fact, the decision appears not to have done anything of the sort, though at one theater in the south, Carnal Knowledge, a dismal picture about the travails of satyriasis, was suspended, frightening the avant garde in New York and Hollywood half to death. The best way to deal with odd ball Supreme Court decisions one disapproves of is to ignore them, and hope nobody will notice. This is what they are now trying. The Boston experiment should be indulged. The anti-obscenity people should keep quiet about it, and their counterparts should accept a little self-restraint and see how it works. These things are better left unpunished, so I promise I shall not cite the Boston solution again.

Turning Inward

Popular response to Wendell L. Willkie's championing of his "one world" theme in the early 1940s struck many as sounding the death knell for isolationism. The view that our country must look outward, playing a responsible and supportive role in world affairs, did burgeon over the next two decades.

A survey of public opinion conducted by the Gallup organization for Potomac Associates indicates that this trend has been reversed in recent years. Since 1972 there has been a marked decline in attitudes which can be described as internationalism, and a corresponding rise in isolationist attitudes.

We are told that "there has been a pronounced tendency to turn inward." This is ascribed in large part to two factors. One is a growing preoccupation with urgent domestic problems. Another is the widespread disenchantment, arising from the traumatic experience in Vietnam, with the concept of "U.S. predominance in power." On the question whether it remains important for the United States to be "the world's most powerful nation," those in the polled group who gave an opinion were almost evenly divided: 43 per cent said yes, 42 per cent no.

Furthermore, the survey revealed a general feeling that U.S. power is declining in relation to other countries, and that "essential equivalence" with the Soviet Union in terms of military strength would be acceptable. In line with this, more than half thought military expenditures were too high. Use of U.S. military force to help Western Europe was approved by only 48 per cent.

A chart of the findings shows a steady decline in internationalist attitudes over the past decade, while the percentage of "total isolationists" held almost constant until the past couple of years. Internationalism sank from 65 per cent of the population to 56 per cent in 1972, then sharply down to 41 per cent at present. During the same period, isolationism stayed at eight or nine per cent until 1972 but by 1974 had risen to 21 per cent.

To the extent that the change reflects less interest in "policing the world," the trend is a happy one. However, there is much more than that to internationalism. The concept of interdependence and shared responsibility is even more important now than it was when Willkie was talking about "one world."

Of late there has been rising awareness that in many ways—with regard to nuclear arms, the intertwined population and environmental problems, and so on—the nations of the world must make common cause to avert disaster. That jibes ill with the "pronounced tendency to turn inward" discerned in Americans by the Potomac Associates survey.

Curb on Laundered Gifts

The pernicious system of using "committee" contributions to hide the identity of contributors to this or that candidate for political office has been dealt a severe blow. This is excellent news for all who believe that who gives what to whom in a political campaign should be kept perfectly clear and open.

This relationship has been obscured by tacit consent of both the House and Senate, even though law which took effect on April 7, 1972, requires filing of regular financial statements by both candidates and officeholders. Officials in Congress have chosen to interpret the law as not specifically barring the practice of giving money to a multi-candidate committee with the hidden stipulation that it go to only one candidate.

Common Cause thought otherwise, and has had its view upheld by a federal district court. Henceforth, major fund-raising committees may not legally earmark gifts for individual candidates. It is a healthy development.

One More Run

Emery Kolb was a mature young fellow of 30 or so when he made his first run down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon with his brother Ellsworth. He took a lot of pictures, and later his brother wrote a book about the river.

That was in 1911.

The other day Emery Kolb, now a lively 93 years of age, made another run down the Colorado. He didn't go the whole route this time; a helicopter picked him up at Crystal Creek to return him to his studio. Still, while he was with the party it ran 11 rapids, including one of the two roughest on the river, and Kolb proclaimed it "a fine trip."

There is doubtless no great signif-

"You BET I'm hopping mad! When inflation begins to affect the well-to-do, it's time something was DONE about it!"

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Boston is in the news having discovered not a solution to the obscenity problem, but an accommodation to it. It is the hallowed (if we can borrow the word for this purpose) Red Light District. Perhaps not exactly that. Boston has not gone so far as to say that it will license bordellos. But practically everything else. There are to be X-rated movie houses, strip-tease bars, "adult" bookstores, which is to say bookstores that specialize in post-pubescent fare; and massage parlors and so on.

There are counterparts all over the world, notoriously in Frankfurt, in Amsterdam, and in Copenhagen. It appears to be the obvious solution, if one accepts the concept that that which used to happen only under the table should move to an entire area in the city.

It makes sense both for the city, which wishes to contain that part of itself that specializes in appealing to prurient instincts; and for the customer who, in search of that kind of thing, need waste little time getting there. Presumably Boston will provide express subways service to Sin Stop, a gesture of municipal courtesy that becomes that old, civilized city.

There are of course complications. There is the book shop at the other end of town which will want to make available to its customers at least a good sampling of the season's pornography. In part because that book shop desires to give its clients anything they might desire; in part because there is very brisk trade in the sex books. Indeed, a recent figure reveals that in middling size book stores, books that can reasonably be called "sex-oriented" do a critical 50 per cent of the business. Since they are only ten percent of the titles, one can see how important they are as an economic matter. What will the booksellers outside Sin Stop in Boston now do? Will they not come up with the identical arguments to insist on their right to continue to pander to the taste of their customers? I would not want to be at the other end of a lawsuit arguing the point.

And what about the movie house say 50 city blocks from Sin Stop. Will it not make a case for relieving the lame and the blind, the senior citizens and the unescorted children, of the risk and tedium of travelling all the

Housing . . . Bottom Still in Sight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government statistics show that the housing industry's deepest decline apparently has not struck bottom.

For prospective buyers entering the busiest home-shopping season, statistics released Tuesday by the Commerce Department mean continued rising prices and fewer new houses to choose from.

For the nation's economy, it means the industry that the administration once expected to lead the way to a rally instead will be a drag on productivity and employment.

The figures showed construction starts on new housing units in May were 38 per cent below a year earlier. Building permits issued were 43 per cent below a year ago.

Commerce said housing starts, after adjustment for seasonal variations, fell in May to an annual rate of 1,450,000 units, a drop of more than 1 million since construction peaked at 2,509,000 units in September 1972. The worst previous drop since the government began keeping records after World War II was in 1966, when housing starts dipped by 850,000 units before bouncing back.

Building permit issuances for construction, meanwhile, fell to 1,055,000 units, a seven-year low.

Housing Secretary James T. Lynn called the figures disappointing, but said House consideration due Thursday for a housing and urban development bill offers some hope. Another version — which the administration dislikes — already has passed the Senate.

But housing economists were more discouraged, particularly by the dwindling building permits. The permits anticipate actual construction by an average of about seven months, which one economist said means there won't be any recovery this year.

Michael Sumicrast of the National Association of Home Builders predicted monthly housing starts will sink to 1.2 million before hitting bottom. Total starts probably will be 100,000 below earlier estimates, or 1.5 million for this year compared to the just over 2 million started last year.

"The big villain is inflation and the inflationary psychology," said Marshall Kaplan, an economist with the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

President Nixon initiated May 10 a series of federal programs designed to subsidize mortgage rates and makes homes easier to buy, Lynn said last month was too early for the statistics to reflect the programs, but the figures show the need was there.

Man's Best Friend . . . Beagles Aiding Science

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apolating toxicity studies to an ing experiments. An ex-National Academy of Sciences committee has found use of beagles indispensable in research on the effects of poisonous chemicals on man.

"Although other species are indeed useful and required in toxicological research, none of the available species can replace the beagle dog," the committee said in a report to the Air Force.

The report, prepared by 21 doctors and specialists mostly from universities and industry, capped a nearly nine-month study of the Air Force's research on ways to curb dangers to aviators from jet fuel fumes.

It was handed to the Air Force amid rising opposition in Congress and among dog lovers to the use of beagles in tests, particularly the Army's chemical warfare research.

Although no animal is a perfect model for man, the use of a combination of species can provide a basis for extrapolating results to man.

Dogs are preferred for research because they "closely resemble man in many ways, including their heart-blood systems. But not any dog will do, the scientists said.

Mongrels, the report said, were useful for certain basic short-term studies but not for the high quality of research needed for predicting human effects from chemicals.

It added that purebred dogs, particularly beagles specifically bred for research, do not have health problems such as mongrels often do and are less likely to die of extraneous causes during experiments.

An experiment using purebred beagles thus requires perhaps only one-tenth as many animals to get statistically significant results, the researchers said.

The Air Force used 172 beagles last year and ordered another 200 for this year, the report said.

About 35 of this year's group will be anesthetized.

"They will not be permitted to regain consciousness and euthanasia will be accomplished at the end of the experiments," the report said, adding they will be killed humanely, usually by intravenous injection of a barbiturate.

The other dogs will be used in "chronic inhalation studies." "There is no intent to produce serious injury to the animals and there should be no pain," the report said.

Generally, the scientific group praised the operation of the program at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio.

Vinyl Cancer Scare . . . Mystery Deepens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The vinyl chloride cancer scare has jumped the fence from grimy factories to surrounding neighborhoods with frightening new statistics from Connecticut. It ultimately may be tracked into the homes of almost every American consumer.

The mystery surrounding vinyl chloride suddenly deepened this week with the first figures showing what may be two confirmed cases of people who developed liver cancer — not because they worked with the plastic chemical but because they lived near plants where it was produced.

Officials at the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health are calling them the first "downwind cases." The deaths occurred in the towns of Bridgeport and Stratford among people who lived as far as 2-1/2 miles from vinyl chloride plants in the past 30 years.

One of the Connecticut victims was a housewife. The other was identified by the government as a Puerto Rican plasterer who immigrated to New York and later lived — and died — in the vicinity of one of the Connecticut plants.

The same figures from the Connecticut Cancer Registry also show two other cases of liver cancer that have been confirmed as the first incidents involving secondary exposure. These people worked not with the basic vinyl chloride gas but in turning its powder or pelletized version — called polyvinyl chloride — into consumer products.

While only about 6,500 U.S. workers are employed in plants where basic vinyl chloride gas is handled, about 700,000 come into contact with it in its later stages while turning the widely used plastic into everything from seat covers to briefcases.

The health implications for that industry only now are beginning to be realized.

And the hazards to people living near plants where vinyl chloride is processed are only just being discovered. Health officials do know that about 6 per cent of the 6 billion pounds of vinyl chloride gas produced in the United States every year escapes into the air — usually through factory smokestacks.

The Environmental Protection Agency recently surveyed seven chemical complexes in Kentucky, Massachusetts, Louisiana, California, Ohio, Delaware and New Jersey and found no evidence of an imminent health hazard; but it stresses that its findings were sketchy and it told the $12 billion-a-year industry it should take immediate steps to reduce neighborhood exposure to the lowest practical level.

For the average consumer who may be wearing, carrying, using or otherwise living with some polyvinyl chloride product almost every waking moment, the health implications are less clear but no less a cause for concern.

So far, basic consumer exposure to vinyl chloride gas has been limited to aerosol sprays. It was used as a propellant in a variety of household aerosol products until as late as March.

So far the government has forced the recall of hundreds of thousands of cans of hair sprays, pesticides, wig cleaners, dog clipping groomers and other products that used the gas. It is looking at still others such as paint sprays and cleaning compounds to determine if enough remain in the marketplace to warrant action.

The danger here, particularly where hair sprays are concerned, is that users in confined spaces — such as bathrooms — could be subjected to doses of the gas in heavy concentrations similar to those which have produced cancer in laboratory animals.

'Poodle Cut' Expensive, Dog Doesn't Hold Grudge

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "Little One," a poodle whose owner won $9,000 in a suit claiming the dog was traumatized after getting cut while being groomed, apparently holds no grudges.

Introduced as evidence Tuesday in the Broward County Circuit Court jury trial, Little One walked over to the groomer who allegedly caused all her mental turmoil and let the man pet her.

But the six-member jury apparently wasn't impressed by the show of friendship. The three women and three men awarded Evelyn Caswell $7,500 in punitive damages and $1,500 in compensatory damages.

"She's not like a normal dog anymore," Mrs. Caswell had told the jury. "She's more like a retarded child. She's lost her playful personality and tends to stare off into space a lot."

She had sued for $15,000, saying Little One suffered anguish after a January 1973 clipping by Frank Swavola in a groomed van outside her home.

National Pet Spa, owner of the van and defendant in the suit, makes door-to-door grooming calls in this Gold Coast city.

The company had Little One introduced into evidence as its last witness to show the dog suffered no ill effects from the grooming.

Mrs. Caswell claimed Little One was cut during the clipping but that Swavola, instead of treating the cut, groomed over it. The cut became infected, Mrs. Caswell said, and the infection caused the trauma.

Swavola claimed the cut was already there.

Mrs. Caswell said she plans to spend the money left after legal expenses to campaign for a law requiring that dog groomers be licensed by the state.

Viet Vets Voted Educational Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted 91 to 9 Wednesday to boost GI bill educational benefits for Vietnam-era veterans by 18 per cent—the biggest such increase since World War II.

Veterans Administration officials estimate the increase will cost taxpayers about $1.9 billion in its first year of operation.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., chairman of the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee, called the bill "a major step in finally giving Vietnam era veterans a real chance at getting an education and training, the kind of chance that I and millions like me had after the Second World War."

Hartke said nearly 1.7 million Vietnam era veterans are expected to use their GI bill benefits in the 1974-75 school year.

Under the bill, a single veteran who now receives $220 a month in educational assistance would receive $260 a month. A married veteran would get $309 a month; $352 if he had one child; and $21 a month for each additional child.

A veteran could get as much as $720 a year to help defray tuition costs. The bill's formula would provide that the first $100 in tuition be paid by the veteran, while 80 per cent of tuition costs between $100 and $1,000 would be paid by the government.

The bill also increases the eligibility period for benefits from the present 36 months to 45 months, and the vet would have 10 years to use his benefits instead of the present eight years.

Another feature of the bill would provide up to $2,000 a year in low-interest loans directly to veterans attending higher cost schools.

An attempt by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., to tie the GI bill's future benefits to the cost of living was defeated, 54 to 35.

Dutchess County Plane Missing

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — A small plane which took off from Dutchess County Airport Tuesday night with two persons believed aboard was reported missing early today.

The names of the pilot and one possible passenger were not immediately available.

The New York Civil Air Patrol said no flight plan was filed but it was thought the plane was destined for Teterboro Airport in New Jersey.

A preliminary aerial search Wednesday night for the Piper Cherokee Arrow, equipped with an electronic locator transmitter, was unsuccessful.

A visual aerial search began today.

Sawhill Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed John C. Sawhill as the nation's new federal energy chief.

The 87 to 4 vote came Tuesday after a last-minute call by Sen. James L. Abourezk, D-S.D., that the Senate protest against Nixon administration energy policies by turning down Sawhill's nomination.

Sawhill, now in charge of the Federal Energy Office, will become head of the new Federal Energy Administration when that agency officially comes into existence July 27.

will be elected and will go to Albany. He said that state problems such as ghettos, the disabled, senior citizens and consumer complaints are much like the county problems. He said he felt betrayed by the State Legislature and he doesn't care if the odds are "1,000 to one" against me," because he cares for the county — "the county that belongs to us."

William Freer, Saugerties funeral director was nominated for coroner for a three-year term by Saugerties Supervisor A. Michael Schovel.

The name of William Cappiello of Esopus had been previously advanced as a possible contender for the coroner nomination by County Chairman Harold Brown but Cappiello, outside the meeting hall, told the Freeman that he was not interested in the post.

The misap occurred on Route 296 in Windham at about 12:30 p.m.

The most seriously injured child, Patricia Osmond of Windham was taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital where she was on the critical list today.

The second child, Kelly Fancher of Hensonville was treated and released at Greene County Memorial Hospital.

Criminal action is pending against the driver of the car, identified as Sandra Farber, 17, of New York City, police said.

According to authorities, the children were crossing the road way after being discharged from the bus when the car pulled out to pass and struck the children. The warning lights on the bus were on when the car drove past, police said.

Man Injured
Robert C. Johnson, 35, was injured Wednesday afternoon when his motorcycle was in collision with a car operated by Rita Matthews, 21, of 35 Ponckhockie Street, on Broadway.

Johnson was treated and released at Kingston Hospital after being transported there by Doctor's Ambulance. No summonses were issued in the mishap.

When you think about changing banks, think about Rondout Savings

Not only because it is the most beautiful bank in town. Nor because of Rondout's conveniences: always plenty of parking, drive-in window, 24 hour depository and postage-free bank by mail service. Nor even because Rondout's people are the friendliest, and Rondout's officers are the most helpful and accessible bankers in town.

Pleasant as these things are, there are practical reasons as well. Think about changing to Rondout Savings because Rondout pays the highest rate of interest available today—higher than the highest that can be paid by commercial banks. And because continuous compounding of interest can give you an even greater yield for your money.

Worth thinking about, isn't it?

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices drifted narrowly in quiet trading in the stock market today. The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was about even with Wednesday's close, and losers took a very slight lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said most investors were simply waiting for developments on interest rates—a subject that has preoccupied Wall Street for months.

Crash Correction

A correction to a Sunday Freeman story concerning a head-on collision on Routes 44-55 was brought to light by one of the involved parties. It was reported that a vehicle driven by Richard Jeffers was forced off the road, swerved back and crossed lanes, striking that driven by Roland Nassimi. State police and Jeffers confirmed that it was actually the Nassimi vehicle that was forced to leave the pavement by an unidentified vehicle and swerved into the path of Jeffers' car. No summonses were issued. Jeffers is from Walkkill and Nassimi of Kew Gardens.

Former School Teacher Faces Life Sentence

HACKENSACK, N.J. (UPI) — A former New York State school teacher faces a possible life sentence after pleading guilty to raping and murdering a 7-year-old Brownie Girl Scout delivering cookies last year.

The attorney for Joseph K. McGowan entered the plea Wednesday before Superior Court Judge Morris Maiech to "be spared the rigors" of a No date was set.

"I did murder the victim and transport the body to New York State," he said before he left the courtroom. He was then led from the courtroom to the county jail pending sentencing.

McGowan, who was dressed in a grey suit, remained calm during the proceeding. He was then led from the courtroom to the county jail pending sentencing.

Afterwards, I placed the body in the trunk of my car and drove up Rte. 210."

McGowan, who taught at Tappan Zee High School in Rockland County, N.Y., at the time of the murder, had raped and brutally beaten the girl while his grandmother sat upstairs. After a four-day search, her naked body was found off the Palisades Interstate Parkway near Stony Point, N.Y.

The first two witnesses in the trial were expected to be the test, said he would consider victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D'Allessandro, who were the maximum penalty for a not in the courtroom Wednesday. Some 25 spectators, including other relatives of the slain girl, were crowded into the small courtroom.

Chancellor Rules In Regents Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Schools Chancellor Irving Anker has ruled that deserving city high school seniors will receive a "Regents endorsement" despite the forced cancellation of all most half of this semester's statewide achievement exams.

Several school districts outside New York City plan to substitute special local tests for the cancelled Regents. Anker's ruling reversed the order to cancel the exams in city's High School Division, order to gather the 18 Regents which had declared that the credits needed to qualify for endorsement would be given only to students who already had accumulated enough credits by Gold said two pupils of the high school, a student from the New York University and another from Hofstra University were involved in the theft and were selling questions and answers in the metropolitan area at prices ranging from 50 cents to $40.

The exam cancellations followed Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Eugene Gold's announcement Friday that a set of questions and answers were stolen from the Solomon Schechter yeshiva in Brooklyn.

The Regents diploma is the state's highest academic degree, and good marks on the exams are considered crucial for college-bound students.

Two days after his arrest, McGowan had been indicted on murder charges. He pleaded guilty to the charge last September, but Superior Court Judge Fred C. Galda had refused to accept the plea because the sexual nature of the crime had not been specified.

Striking Nurses Increase Pressure

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking nurses increased their pressure on 41 private hospitals today by pulling their emergency room and intensive care volunteers back to the picket lines.

Hospital administrators said this created a "genuine health care crisis" and doctors were put on overtime to help care for acutely ill patients. The 4,400-member California Nurses Association said the decision to reverse a strike agreement to staff the acute care centers was in protest of continuing elective services. "They're using us to free other people to help with stuff like silicone injections," said Burton White, chief negotiator and spokesman for the CNA. "Well, not any more."

Highland Townhomes Drawing Young

HIGHLAND on-site recreation, no exterior maintenance, and is close to being turned on by the metropolitan cultural and townhome concept of owner-business centers. "Until the past few years, the last thing most single young people had in mind was buying a home — but times have changed," Steinfield believes, "and economically astute men and women are recognizing the benefits of home ownership as older people how real estate values in the area are going up and how much the demand is increasing — especially for the two-story, two-bedroom homes within 10 to 20 minutes of the city."

"And since single people pay so much higher taxes than married couples, the tax benefits of home ownership are important, too, by providing bath, second bedroom and deductions of taxes and interest, lounge, which could be child's bedroom, den or sewing room."

"Many single men and women have shown an interest in our townhome community — Sunny Brook on Toc Road in Highland, Steinfield reports. 'The location brings them in, and often they're looking for rental apartments. But when they find that Sunny Brook offers all the carefree advantages of apartment living and much more — the idea of actually owning a piece of real estate in this location begins to appeal to them seriously.'"

"We've found that today's young people and retirees appreciate a townhome that has

CHEMICAL BANK BRANCH IN ULSTER TOWN

Early Fall Opening Scheduled

Chemical Bank to Ulster

ULSTER AVENUE MALL, County. Other Hudson Valley Chemical Bank of the Hudson City and is a subsidiary of the Chemical Bank of New York Corporation. Another addition to the growing family of merchants and businesses along the stretch of Ulster Avenue Mall will be the Chemical Bank, Hudson Valley, N.Y.

An early fall opening of the Chemical Bank branch is scheduled. Construction of the new bank site is presently underway near the entrance to the Caldor Shopping Center.

Officials of Chemical Bank report that the Ulster Avenue Mall branch will have a contemporary look with a Nyack firm in charge of construction. John Ledwith of New Windsor has been named manager of the branch bank offering full service and drive-in window.

This will be the first Chemical Bank operation in Ulster correct change," explained

Walgreens in Penny Battle

CHICAGO, ILL. Walgreen Co. has announced a major, nationwide program to help alleviate the penny shortage.

The program, designed to help get more than 30 billion pennies back into circulation, will include prominently displayed decals, posters and bulletins, informing shoppers of the shortage, and asking for everyone's assistance.

"Not only are we asking Walgreen's to help by having Bank operation in Ulster correct change," explained

Company President Charles R. Walgreen III. "We are asking our more than 28,000 employees to pitch in their pennies."

There is no actual shortage of pennies — the problem is that billions of them, with no value to coin collectors, are not being circulated.

The giant, nationwide drug store chain is asking everyone to dig into their pockets, piggy banks, dresser drawers and pickle jars to retrieve those missing pennies.

"Although this 'shortage' affects all of us," Walgreen continued, "retailers are among the hardest hit."

by the U.S. Department of the Treasury, if just 15 billion pennies could be coaxed out of hiding, the Mint, at current production figures, would not have to produce pennies for almost two years — representing a savings of $150 million in minting costs to taxpayers.

Let's work together to beat the penny 'shortage,' Walgreen emphasized. "We need to get those billions of pennies back into circulation where they can benefit everyone."

A Walgreen store in the Kingston, N.Y. area is located in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. According to a recent report

Savings Banks Report Outflow

NEW YORK — The nation's savings banks experienced a $190 million net deposit outflow last month, the industry's first outflow for the month of May since the end of World War 2, according to preliminary figures released here today by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

"Added to the $645 million deposit outflow our banks suffered in April, this means that in only two months over $800 million has been pulled out of the pool of funds potentially available for mortgages," said Dr. Grover W. Ensley, NAMS executive vice president.

"The reason, of course, is continuing high yields on competing short-term securities," Ensley continued, "and until there is a fairly substantial decline in these competing rates, the mortgage market will continue to feel the pinch."

Interest credited to accounts in May totaled $195 million, producing an overall deposit gain for the industry of $5 million for the month.

At the end of May, deposits assets of the industry stood at $109.1 billion as of May 31, in mutual savings banks totaled an estimated $98.0 billion, up compared with $104.9 billion a year ago.

Sawyer Savings Bank Exhibition

Seniors Show Art Work

SAUGERTIES The display, arranged by 1973, the members of the Senior Citizens Art Class have with Mrs. Hazel Weber and with the bank, represents a collection of works reflecting the culmination of the efforts of numerous persons with an artistic bent.

Since organizing in October, supervised it — expects to continue with her classes in the fall. The results have been that encouraging.

Among local senior citizens participating in the exhibit are J. Demeter, B. Caldwell, H. Weber, E. Siebert, L. Saile, J. Flanagan, R. Ricketson, K. Griffen and Mr. and Mrs. H. Hornbeck.

The display at the bank is scheduled to remain through the end of June, and all area residents are cordially invited to view it.

Former Resident Gets Key Post

TOLEDO, O. John E. Bonestell, a native of Kingston, N.Y., has been named vice-president, sales by the newly-formed Midrex Corporation, a member of the Korf Group.

The Midrex Corporation is a subsidiary of Korf Industries Incorporated which purchased the former Midrex Division of Midland-Ross Corporation of Cleveland, O., earlier this year.

Bonestell, in his new post, will be responsible for marketing, business development, advertising and public relations. He joined the former Midrex Division in 1967 as a sales engineer and became manager, equipment, sales, in 1970 and manager, marketing of plant equipment, in 1972.

Before joining Midrex, he was a technical representative for Huntington Alloy Products Division, Huntington, W. Va., and research assistant for U.S. Steel Corp., Monroeville, Pa.

Bonestell is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, received a bachelor of science degree in Mineral Preparation Engineering from Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa.

Top officers appointed included Joe E. Visnich, president, Donald Beggs, vice-president and technical director as well as Bonestell.

The Midrex Corp. provides turnkey services, including design, engineering and construction of Midrex direct reduction process facilities. The patented process converts iron oxides in the form of pellets or lump ore to a highly reduced material for use in electric arc furnace steelmaking.

Midrex technology, which led to the development of the Midrex process, also has application to the heat process of minerals other than iron oxides. The corporation is currently in the process of relocating its offices from Toledo to Charlotte, N.C. The move is expected to be completed by July 1.

Camp Bill Signed

ALBANY

Legislation sponsored by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) amending the public health law in relation to issuance of permits for the operation of children's overnight camps has been signed by Governor Malcolm Wilson.

The legislation allows an official issuing an operating permit to waive a requirement of the sanitary code and set a minimum standard of more than 20 square feet of floor space per camper in a camp's sleeping quarters.

"I am gratified that the Governor has enacted this bill into law," Bell said. "It is designed to permit many children's overnight camps, which might otherwise have to close because they are unable to meet the space requirements, to continue to operate. A waiver could be granted only where an application is accompanied by a written certification of the local health officer that it would present no hazard to public health."

Bell said the amendment was needed because sanitary code regulations called for 40 square feet of floor area per individual, a requirement that was too severe for some camps to operate under.

"Many private, 4-H, Boy Scout and Girl Scout camps in Ulster County, and the Catskills area in general, are finding it almost impossible to meet the rules and remain in operation," Bell pointed out. "Some of these camps receive revenue through private contributions, Community Chests and other voluntary services, yet, even combining this with a charge for campers, many are unable to make ends meet and may be forced to close. Allowing them to make more efficient use of available space, while at the same time taking every precaution to guard the health of the youngsters they serve, is a sensible way to keep them open."

Union Campaign Continues

KINGSTON

Harold Ostrander, campaigning in Ulster County for the post of business agent of Laborer's Union Local 17, declared that if elected in Sunday's balloting, he would "give the union back to the men."

Ostrander, who took up the campaign after Frank Biengardo withdrew because of personal reasons — Biengardo is actively supporting Ostrander — contends his opponent, the incumbent, Lorenzo Diorio, has made threats against his supporters. "He has called up different members informing them that if any showed up at my campaign rallies they had better not come back here, meaning the union hall," Ostrander said.

Ostrander has two rallies scheduled before Sunday's voting in Newburgh, one Friday night at the VFW Hall in Newburgh at 8 p.m. the other in the fire hall in Port Jervis on Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Ostrander also accuses Diorio of forcing campaign contributions from the membership and of preferential treatment on hiring.

The winner of Sunday's election will serve a three-year term as chief executive officer of the 1,600-member union.

Snyder Set As Speaker

NEW PALTZ

World traveler, journalist, lecturer, and news commentator Frederic Snyder of Kingston will be the featured speaker at the annual dinner of the D&H Canal Historical Society at Mohonk Mountain House on Saturday, June 22.

Snyder, a New England native, has retired after a long and distinguished career in the communicative arts. In addition to his work in public affairs, Snyder is honored to be the custodian of the famed and historic Baton of the Marquis De LaFayette, and he is a life member of the Sons of the American Revolution, being an 11th generation American.

Dinner reservations may be made by calling Mrs. William Russell of New Paltz by 7 p.m. Friday, June 21. Tickets entitle the purchaser to enjoy the grounds and gardens, a tour of the Carriage Museum, and a buffet dinner at 7:30 p.m. A Dutch treat cocktail hour from 6:30 to 7:30 will follow the tour of the Carriage Museum. All reservations should be confirmed at the desk in the main lobby upon arrival.

Juris
Doctor Degree

BOSTON, MASS.

Timothy P. O'Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. O'Reilly of Kingston, received the juris doctor degree from the New England School of Law at the school's recent commencement exercises.

O'Reilly graduated as a Dean's List student and won first place in the estate planning contest sponsored by the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company. He was also awarded the American Jurisprudence Award for Estate Planning and was nominated for Honors Moot Court while a second year law student. He was a teaching assistant to Professor Frank Rae, the law school's librarian.

O'Reilly, his wife Denise, and their one-month-old son Devin will return to Kingston where he will be employed in the law offices of Stewart T. Schantz.

Deborah L. Reamer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reamer of 110 Southfield Street, Kingston, received the bachelor of arts degree recently in commencement exercises at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

More than 3,500 degrees, diplomas, and certificates were conferred by Northwestern Chancellor J. Roscoe Miller at the school's 116th annual commencement.

Joseph Hoffert, a 1974 graduate of Roosevelt High School, Hyde Park, has been accepted for admission this fall to Marietta (Ohio) College, a private liberal arts college.

Hoffert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hoffert, Mountain View Road, Staatsburg, is among 34 New York State students in Marietta's freshman class.

HYDE PARK
They sang for 15 hours, all afternoon and all night this past weekend, and they netted $3,000 for the Heart Fund in Hyde Park.

Judie Van Bramer of the Dutchess County Heart Chapter, Inc., pointed to the first annual Heart-A-Thon, held at Michael's Restaurant in Hyde Park, as the result of "heartwarming dedication".

The entertainment marathon was the brainchild of Bob Silver and Dave Mitchell, professionals in the country western music field, who directed the event and worked many months in its planning.

Bill and Marion Prescott, owners of Michael's Restaurant, donated the facilities and helped with the event.

Showing the scope of participants, in part: The Mended Hearts Group and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Dutchess County Heart Chapter supplied volunteer help to staff the show; two radio stations were on hand for live coverage of the marathon from beginning to end.

Several groups volunteered to travel the area picking up pledges and Phil Magnarella, area tavern owner, donated beer for the entertainers.

Mrs. Van Bramer said she felt the community should know how much their efforts were appreciated, especially those of the numerous entertainers who donated their time and effort.

"It is only with such enthusiasm and dedication that the Heart Chapter is able to meet with continued success," she said.

Caroline deOlde Weds William W. Gock

MRS. WILLIAM W. GOCK
(Caroline Louise deOlde)
(Lakeside Studio)

Caroline Louise deOlde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. deOlde of 59 South Wall Street, Kingston, became the bride of William W. Gock of Blue Mountain Road, Saugerties, on Saturday, June 15. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gock of 41 Woodland Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. Arthur Oudemool, minister emeritus, officiated at the ceremony at Old Dutch Church, Kingston. David Ancker, organist, and an accompanying brass ensemble provided wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a gown of polyester satin with taffeta lining. The bodice featured a round neckline and cape collar with a sheer overlay. Clusters of pearl buttons accented the cuffs of the sleeves and a ruffle accented the skirt hemline. Crochet lace edging trimmed the entire gown and the veil which was floor length and attached to a headband of gardenias, stephanotis and red rosebuds. The bride made her gown and veil. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and red roses on a background of ivy.

Mrs. Joanne Dickerson of Rifton was matron of honor in a lavender dotted swiss gown with a silk lining. Styled similarly to the bride's gown, the bodice featured a round neckline accented with a ruffle. Her gown was also made by the bride. A band of lavender, pink, blue and yellow daisies and baby's breath served as her headpiece and she carried a cascade of lavender, pink, blue and yellow daisies and baby's breath on a background of ivy.

Attendants were Mrs. Susan Cutrone, Second Avenue, Kingston; Mrs. Celia deOlde, sister-in-law of the bride, Legion Court, Port Ewen; and Miss Kristine Kaipfel of Rifton. Their pink, blue and yellow gowns, respectively, were identically styled to the honor attendant's gown and were also made by the bride. They wore headbands of daisies to match, accented with baby's breath, and carried cascades of matching daisies, baby's breath and ivy.

Robert McEnroe of Painted Post was best man. Ushers were Robert Butt, Linderman Avenue, Kingston; Brian Hathaway, Jeanett Lane, Lake Katrine; John Wolven, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. A reception was given at Glasco firehall.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1968, is employed as secretary, personnel department, IBM, Kingston.

Her husband earned his BA degree in Literature from Marist College in 1967 and is also employed by IBM, Kingston.

After a wedding trip to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Gock will reside at Blue Mountain, Saugerties.

Sneden-Deyo Nuptials Told

Christine Lyn Sneden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Sneden of Binghamton, became the bride of Alan Leslie Deyo of Endicott Saturday, June 8 at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Bruce Williams of Tabernacle Methodist Church in Binghamton officiated at the ceremony. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald B. Deyo of RD 2, Kingston.

The bride selected a lime green, full-length, polyester knit gown styled with short sleeves. She wore a white, wide-brimmed hat and carried one long stemmed yellow rose.

Susan Elizabeth Sneden of Binghamton was maid of honor for her sister in a lavender and blue sleeveless taffeta gown. She wore a lavender, wide-brimmed hat and carried a long-stemmed purple rose.

Daniel Converse of 59 Albert Street, Johnson City, was best man.

A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Deyo, a graduate of Seton High School in Endicott, is employed by Susquehanna

Nursing Home, Johnson City. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, received his BA degree from State University of New York at Binghamton. He is employed by First City National Bank, Binghamton.

Mr. and Mrs. Deyo will reside at 1711 Riverview Drive, Endicott.

Poster Contest Open to Children

Saratoga Springs Jaycee Chairman, Larry Rosmilso, today announced final plans for the "Spirit of America" poster contest running in conjunction with the Saratoga Fair. The contest, which is open to children between the ages of six and 12, will have $100 Savings Bonds provided by the Adirondack Trust Company as first prizes for each age category. Second prize is a $50 bond and third prize is a $25 bond.

Children from all areas are encouraged to submit a poster entry. There are three age classes, six and seven years, eight, nine and 10 years, and 11 and 12 years. The theme of the poster should best describe what the child thinks the "Spirit of America" Saratoga Fair is all about. Judging will be based upon originality and creativity. Decision of the judges is final. Besides the savings bonds awards, there will be three certificates of merit in each class.

Rules for the contest are:
Size: Minimum — 10" by 14"
Maximum — 16" by 20"

Poster Materials — Any kind of paper or poster paper, crayons, colored pencils, water colors or poster prints. Oil paints and canvas are not allowed.

Deadline for poster entries is midnight, June 25. Posters may be delivered to the Administration Building at the Saratoga Race Course off Union Avenue in Saratoga, or may be mailed to: Poster Contest, Saratoga Fair, P.O. Box 364, Saratoga Springs, New York 12866.

Each entry must contain the following information: name, address, age, phone, school. Information should be attached to the back of the poster, or written on the reverse side of the poster.

Women Play Prominent Role in Democratic Telethon '74

The Democratic National Telethon will feature a number of segments highlighting the role of women in the Democratic Party during its 21 hour broadcast of CBS-TV Saturday June 29 — Sunday June 30. A number of spots are being specially produced for the broadcast to express the contributions women have made both at the local and national levels, and a number of prominent women who have made outstanding contributions to the woman's movement will host portions of the program.

Bette Davis and Lee Grant will talk about individual freedom and the chance for women to get ahead in America, and Congresswoman Martha Griffiths will discuss her fight to get the Equal Rights Amendment enacted. Liz Carpenter, former Press Secretary to Lady Bird Johnson, will discuss women candidates and their impact on the 1974 campaigns.

Esther Peterson will discuss the role for women in consumer action. C. Delores Tucker, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Vice Chairwoman of Pennsylvania Democratic Committee, and Doris Davis, Mayor of Compton, California, will talk about employment opportunities for women in government and politics.

Mary Lou Burg, Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Anne Wexler, Canvassing Director for Telethon '74 and member of the Democratic National Committee's Campaign Committee, will point to women's efforts in Democratic Training Schools being held around the country in preparation for the 1974 campaigns, and to the importance of women in campaign activities as well as to the general impact of women in politics.

Additional segments will depict the part women have played in the history of the United States.

The Democratic National Telethon effort has been a priority undertaking for the Democratic National Committee under the Chairmanship of Robert S. Strauss. Since the first Telethon was broadcast in 1972, Telethon has evolved into a major organizational and political drive as well as a fundraising campaign. A national Telethon staff, six regional coordinators, and 50 state Telethon committees are at work full time, and 100,000 volunteers are canvassing door-to-door and by phone across the country. To a noticeable extent, the execution and success of this nationwide program is in the hands of women.

The Executive Director of the Democratic National Telethon Committee is a 25 year old woman, Kitty Halpin, who in that capacity is responsible for all pre-Telethon fund-raising.

Another young woman who holds a key position on the National Telethon staff is 24 year old Susan Eisner, who serves as Director of Communications.

Anne Wexler is National Canvassing Director. She is responsible for organizing and coordinating the nationwide distribution of 5 million pledge envelopes before the Telethon.

To a great extent, the Telethon effort depends upon six people who travel through the states to help solve technical and operational problems, and to activate party and media channels. One of these "Regional Coordinators" is Ms. Jerri Bigelow, who is coordinating all Telethon activities in the Pacific Coast area — the region that contributed the most money per capita in last year's Telethon.

The right hand "man" at Telethon headquarters is a woman. Twenty-four year old Diane Contos holds the position of Administrative Assistant and helps run the national office, while also functioning in a research and writing capacity.

Women hold prominent positions in the state Telethon organizations as well. Twenty-three of the 50 state Telethon Coordinators are women, some of whom head the Telethon efforts in the largest and best organized states.

The Telethon Coordinator for the New York metropolitan area is Esther Newberg. She is responsible for the canvassing drive, publicity, phone centers, and local programming "down-state" and has already executed the distribution of New York's quota of pledge envelopes and begun its phone canvassing operation.

Ms. Newberg has an extensive background in Democratic politics, both in New York and Washington. She served as Muskie's Campaign Coordinator in New York, and is Executive Director of the New York State Democratic Party.

Concert Slated Saturday at UCCC

An evening of solo and ensemble music will be presented at Van Der Lynn Hall, Ulster County Community College, Saturday at 7 p.m. This will be the fifth year that students of Mrs. Barbara Zimet, an advocate of the Robert Pace philosophy of "creative group teaching," will perform in concert. They will play compositions by Bach, Scarlatti, Haydn, Clementi, Mozart, Turk, Beethoven, Kuhlau, Chopin, Villa Lobos, Kabalevsky, Pace, Olson, Dello Joio. The Scarlatti will be performed on the clavichord.

Student, Kurt Heilman will play his composition, Theme and Variations. Other pianists will be: Sharon Donohue, Corinne Ebbs, Andrew Gebert, Nathan Gebert, Sara Hill, Joy Kahn, John Lee, William Meyers, Anita Soovajan, Christine Stay, Susan Terwilliger and Joshua Zimet.

Gary Ebbs, Diane Loekle, Geoffrey Keehn, Lyn Koster,

Donald Wylie participated in the New York State Music Association Competition Festival in May and will be playing the same numbers they played at that time. Other competition participants playing in the Musicale will be violinist, Marc Ebbs, student of Frank Mele; and cellist, Beth Zimet, student of Luis Garcia Renart. They will play Viotti and Bocerini Concertos accompanied by Mrs. Zimet. All participants in the competitions received excellent ratings as did a Trio (Gary Ebbs, Marc Ebbs, Beth Zimet) playing Beethoven Op. 1, No. 1. David Zimet and Mrs. Zimet will perform the Poulenc Sonata for Four Hands.

The public is invited.

Penny Social on Friday

A penny social sponsored by the YWCA Teen Club of Saugerties will take place Friday at Dutch Arms Chapel. Saugerties, starting at 6:30 p.m. Awards will be presented from 7:30 to 8:30. Added attractions will include a refreshery of homebaked goods. There will be no admission charge.

MRS. JOHN PARKER, at left, was elected president of the Greater Kingston Welcome Wagon Club recently. Serving with her will be (L-R) Mrs. William Tweeddale, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Mikesch, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Townsend, treasurer; and Mrs. Frank Kramer, secretary. Serving as installations officer was Mrs. Charles Seizo, Welcome Wagon hostess. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Square Dance Scheduled

Lefooters Western Square Dance Club will feature caller, Bill Barton, at this Friday night's dance at 8 o'clock at the Hurley Reformed Church Hall, off Route 209. All club level dancers are invited to attend.

Bill Barton hails from Ascutney, Vt., where he is employed by the Daily Eagle in Claremont, N.H. as a motor route driver. He plans to attend the University of Vermont in Burlington in September where he will major in Radio-TV Communications. Barton has been teaching square dancing for the past nine years. This season he taught classes for the Okemo Squares of Ludlow, and taught a series of advanced workshops in Ascutney. He has been concentrating his calling appearances to within 50 miles of Ascutney, but has called, on occasion, in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Indiana. He is a member of the Green Mountain Callers Association and has called at the New England Square Dance Convention for the past eight years. Presently, he is deeply involved writing square dance choreography and is a regular contributor to the Workshop in American Square Dance Magazine and other workshops.

Lefooters are looking forward to welcoming Bill Barton to his first appearance here and urge all members and guests to attend what promises to be a real fun evening.

SENIOR PROJECT — Accepting her certificate and pin given in recognition of service given to the Retired Senior Volunteer Program at Northern Dutchess Hospital is Mrs. Elsie Fredericks, at left. The presentation program took place at a tea this month. Mrs. Louise Sullivan, RSVP Project Director for Dutchess County, center, and Mrs. Mary Phillips, coordinator of the program, made the presentations. It has been reported that more than 200 people are now assisting in meaningful volunteer work throughout Dutchess County, working in non-profit agencies and organizations. Volunteers receive their transportation, insurance coverage while on assignment, and expenses. Any man or woman, 60 years of age and older, is eligible to participate. Detailed information may be obtained by contacting the RSVP office in Poughkeepsie.

TASTY NECTARINES

Most of the nation's supply of nectarines comes to market from California in June through September, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

A nectarine is a nectarine and NOT a "cross" between a peach and a plum.

Nectarine skin, often high colored with red and gold, is smooth, thin and flavorful. Bright-looking fruits which are firm to moderately hard will probably ripen within two or three days at room temperature.

For most uses, leave the skin on the fruit. Remove it only when actual cooking would loosen the skin. If fruit is only to be heated through, leave skin on. As with peaches, there are both clingstone and freestone varieties. Clingstones dominate.

Avoid hard, dull fruits or slightly shriveled fruits, which may be immature, and soft or overripe fruits or those with cracked or punctured skin or other signs of decay.

NECTARINE SOUR CREAM PIE is almost like a cheese cake, but easier to make. Be sure to make this tasty treat for your family this fall.

by Laura Wheeler

Nectarine Sour Cream Pie

Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell. Two tablespoons graham cracker crumbs. Two to four fresh nectarines. One teaspoon grated lemon rind. One tablespoon lemon juice. Two tablespoons flour. Two-thirds cup sugar. Three-fourths cup dairy sour cream. Nutmeg.

Sprinkle bottom of pastry shell with crumbs. Slice nectarines to yield two cups. Arrange fruit neatly in shell; sprinkle with lemon rind and juice. Stir flour and sugar into sour cream. Spoon over fruit. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake at 400 degrees 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 to 40 minutes longer. Makes six to eight servings.

Upcoming Courses

Mother's Joined 'Senior Swingers Club'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My 62-year-old mother who was recently widowed, has taken to running around with men. She joined some kind of "Senior Swingers Club." Her men friends have been seen by her neighbors and they have begun to talk.

I just can't understand what's come over my mother. She picks up men at the grocery store, at bingo, and at other social events.

She used to be a devoted Christian wife and mother, and my children adore their "Nana," but now she's disgracing our family. I spoke to her about this, and she said she figured she may not be around too many more years, and she wants to enjoy what's left of her life. Isn't this type of activity bad for a woman her age?

I need some advice on how to handle this.

DESPERATE IN FORT PIERCE, FLA.

DEAR DESPERATE: A woman who has been a devoted Christian wife and mother doesn't become less of a Christian because she makes new friends and enjoys socializing. It could keep her young and healthy for many years. You are not "disgraced." A person can disgrace only himself. Mother is probably innocent of any wrongdoing, but some neighbors love to talk.

DEAR ABBY: I work days, so about six months ago I hired a nice middle-aged woman I'll call "Emma" to come in and look after my children.

The other day I noticed a long-distance call on my phone bill which neither my husband nor I had made, so I phoned Emma and asked her if she had made it. I stressed that I didn't mind if she had, I only wanted to know if there was a mistake on my bill (it was less than $4).

Emma said she knew nothing about it, so I called the telephone company and they took it off my bill. No problem.

Early the next morning, Emma's husband called to tell me that Emma was so upset over my "insulting accusation" that she couldn't work for me anymore!

Fortunately, I was able to replace her with no trauma to my children and very little inconvenience to myself, but I want to know if I did the wrong thing in questioning Emma.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: If you're telling it like it was, you had every right to ask her, and she should not have regarded your question as "an insulting accusation."

DEAR ABBY: Our son recently married a girl in another city. None of our relatives or friends has ever met the girl, but many of them received announcements of the wedding and sent gifts.

Our son sent personal handwritten thank-you notes on behalf of both himself and his bride to all of the friends and relatives who sent gifts.

My daughter and her husband think it's the bride's responsibility to write all the thank-you notes.

His Dad and I (and some of the recipients) thought it was a nice gesture on our son's part. What is your opinion?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I'm with you. The bride usually writes the notes, but it's not necessarily HER "responsibility." It's THEIRS.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DIXIE: The way to get a boy is to make him a little jealous. The way to lose him is to make him a little more jealous.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Concert Sunday At WAA Gallery

Woodstock Artists Association will present Fiddlers Bridge Woodwind Quintet, assisted by flutist Judith Handeman, in concert Sunday, June 23 at 4:30 p.m. in the newly refurbished WAA Gallery.

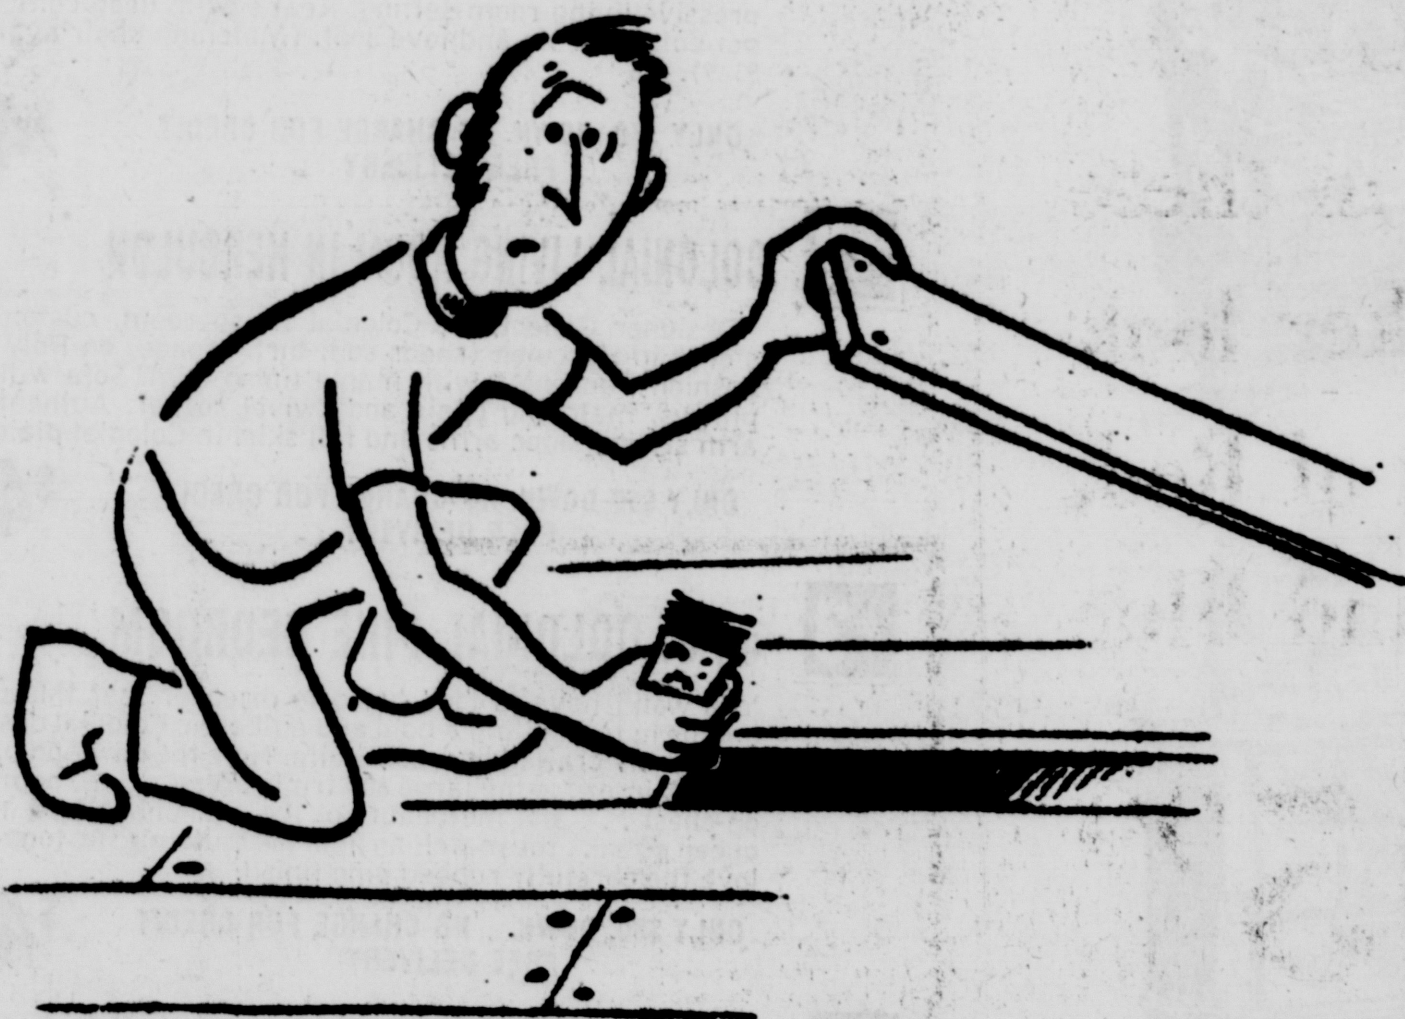

The program ranges from classical to contemporary, and includes works by Haydn, Danzi, Berschetti, Hovhannes, Telemann, and Ibert.

Members of the quintet are Melissa Sweet, flute, a student of Claude Montoux and Murray Panitz who has played with Monmouth County Symphony, Battle Creek Symphony; Kathleen Karlsen, oboe, who has performed with Albany Symphony and Hudson Valley Symphony; Herb Handman, clarinet, Sacramento Symphony, Northwest Symphony of New Mexico; Mary West-Leonard, French horn, Pocono Music Festival Orchestra; Robert Gemmell, bassoon, Lawton Philharmonic and Orchestra in Progress. All member of the ensemble are professionals and all performers are from surrounding areas including Woodstock and Saugerties.

The public is urged to attend and give these local musicians a hearty reception.

ULSTER REPS ATTEND CONFERENCE — At the supervisors and county legislators 25th summer conference are (L-R) Legislator Louis Resnick, Town of Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic, and Legislator Eugene Houck. Also present from the county were Legislator Lester C. Elmen-

Four-Year Term Approved By Legislators, Supervisors

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. A resolution calling for statewide establishment of four-year terms for county legislators, town supervisors, and town clerks was approved by the Supervisors and County Legislators Association of New York State at the group's 25th annual summer conference.

Nearly 400 persons attended, including a contingent from Ulster County, representing a statewide membership in excess of 1,800 officials. George R. Arney Jr. of Wayne County is president.

The resolution recommending the four-year terms will be forwarded to the state legislature and to all county legislative boards in an attempt to standardize the terms of office throughout the state.

Under existing state laws a county legislature may extend the terms of its members, subject to mandatory referendum (final mandatory voting by constituents). Several New York counties have established the four-year terms for legislators.

First class towns (those with more than 10,000 people) may now fix four-year terms for supervisors in counties where a supervisor is only a town officer and not a member of the county legislature, such as is the case in Ulster and Dutchess Counties. This would require electorate approval.

And the term of a town clerk, who is a town official only, may also be extended following the same guidelines.

Drawbacks to the current melange, according to President Arney, include his opinion that many programs in local government jurisdiction cannot be initiated and completed within two years, resulting in a loss of initiative through switching administrations and eventual abandonment of some "programs for the betterment."

The Association also approved a resolution calling for restoration of the former 16 per cent refund formula for apportionment of motor vehicle fees returned to counties, rather than the ten per cent now in effect.

A revision in the local court fee system is also being sought by the Association, as its membership recommended that the rate per case for use of Town Justice Courts be doubled.

Such fees have not been revised for many years, it was argued, and it was felt that in light of current governmental costs, some towns are in effect subsidizing New York State by maintenance of courts largely for use by state police.

And members inevitably came to the matter of real estate taxation, sending a resolution to the state legislature asking that the entire matter of such taxes be paid by persons and/or by governmental jurisdictions or by private organizations be "promptly and comprehensively studied."

Said the group's release, "The present exemptions by such jurisdictions and organizations is becoming a major problem to many local municipalities of New York State, lowering the tax base of the affected municipality and placing a greater tax burden on the owners of real property not so favored by exemption."

Those in attendance attended a series of classes on topics ranging from the federal flood insurance plan, local offices for the aging, narcotics abuse prevention, volunteer ambulance corps legislation, and the partnership between the New York State Extension Service and local government.

A work session was also conducted encompassing park and recreation grants and assistance available to towns and counties, with representatives of the Adirondack Park Agency, the Tug Hill Commission, and Catskill Study Commission discussing their progress.

Free Flood Control 'Lawn Mowing'

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE Flood Control, in addition to providing protection from too much water, creates some of the world's longest lawns, and Ellenville is going to get its Flood Control "lawns" mowed for free this summer.

Doing the mowing this summer will be the LeHara company of East Brunswick, N. J. Rather than being motivated by altruism, the company will be testing and demonstrating a prototype of a radical new machine, a sort of super-lawnmower, on the Ellenville project.

Keeping the grass mowed on the Flood Control dikes, necessary for the proper maintenance of those levees, is no small job. According to the statistics of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Ellenville has about three miles of dikes in its project.

The village was about to award a bid for a machine with a sickle bar mower, but cancelled the move Monday night when the LeHara offer was announced by Village Manager Modris Pukulis.

Pukulis said Tuesday that, using a conventional machine, Ellenville's dikes could probably not be mowed in less than a week by an experienced operator, and that it would take about two weeks the first time the village did it.

He estimated that the LeHara machine, which he said is low and wide, looking like an all-terrain-vehicle with tracks, and has a "flail" mower mounted on the front, could do the job in two working days.

Pukulis said a demonstration by the LeHara company of the prototype had been "dramatic enough to make us want one of these things." The dramatic thing the machine did in the demonstration, Pukulis said, was completely mow about 500 feet of dike in "less than half an hour."

He said the village may purchase a machine if it performs properly this summer and proves durable.

He said no price had yet been set for the machine, since it is a prototype, but that it should be "in the area" of what the village had been willing to pay for a conventional machine. That was about $6,500 or more.

The machine also has a snow blower attachment, he said, and it could also be used in winter to get into the village's reservoir at Lake Maratanza for maintenance operations.

A new chance.

We've sweetened the pot for July.
The $50,000 weekly ticket gives you a crack at 20 extra $500 prizes every day.

July is "New Chance" month.

To introduce our new ticket

this July, we're giving away an extra $240,000

with our "New Chance"

Game. Here's how to play:

Buy the new Lottery

tickets with July drawing dates. After the Thursday

drawing of the Regular

Weekly number, a New Chance

number will be drawn every day, except Sunday, until the next Thursday when the game starts again.

You win $500 if the New Chance number appears on your ticket dated for that weekly drawing, as either your ticket or accounting number in exact sequence, forward or backward (see the new ticket).

Hold on to your Lottery ticket and check the New Chance number daily. If you do or don't win the Regular Weekly Lottery, your ticket is still good for a crack at the 20 extra $500 prizes every day. Check this schedule:

Regular Weekly tickets dated July 4th are good for New Chance drawings on July 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th.

Regular Weekly Lottery tickets dated

July 11th are good for New Chance

drawings on July

11th, 12th, 13th,

15th, 16th, 17th.

Regular Weekly

Lottery tickets dated July 18th are good for New Chance drawings on July 18th, 19th, 20th, 22nd, 23rd, 24th.

Regular weekly Lottery tickets dated July 25th are good for New Chance drawings on July 25th, 26th, 27th, 29th, 30th, 31st.

Only July tickets are eligible. Tickets with the August 1st date are not eligible.

Redeem your Lottery ticket to get your winnings. Regular Weekly prizes up to $25 can be redeemed at any outlet displaying a redemption sign. New Chance and bigger Regular Weekly prizes can be picked up at any of our New York State offices. They're listed in the phone book.

Good luck.

Synagogue News

Ahavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, at 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday 8 p.m., followed by an Oneg Shabbat, and every Saturday 9:30 a.m., followed by a Kiddush. Services are conducted by Dr. Harry Z. Schectman, rabbi of the congregation, and the liturgy is chanted by Cantor Jeffrey Shron.

This Friday evening the Bas Mitzvah of Bonnie Jo Semilof, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Semilof, will be celebrated. The Bas Mitzvah will participate in the religious service, and will read the prophetic portion of the week. She will receive religious gifts of the Sisterhood, the Talmud Torah, and the USY and her certificate of Bas Mitzvah from the congregation. Rabbi Schectman will charge her with the Bas Mitzvah lesson, and offer his blessings on the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Semilof, parents of the Bas Mitzvah, are inviting all members and friends of the congregation to join them in the Oneg Shabbat.

The Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose Yuhrtzeiten will be observed in the coming week: Benjamin Bush, William Greenwald, Dorothy Denzig Krakower, Andrew Mandel, Sam Millens, Shloima Leib Pauker, Herbert Siller, Nancy Spiegel, Hinda Weisalthier, and Etta Geiber Zwick.

Sunday, June 23, the unveiling of the tombstone at the grave of David Gruber will be held, at Montrose Cemetery, at 2 p.m. All friends may attend.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath evening services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday 7:30 p.m. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn and Cantor John Park. Sabbath candles will be kindled by Yvonne Fox. The Kiddush prayer will be led by Joel Fox and son Alan. Rabbi Eichhorn will review the book, The New Anti-Semitism recently published by B'nai Brith.

During services the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Dr. Curtis Bight, Morris Kaplan, Jean Goldstein, Clara Frishberg, Folet Wolff, Herman Projan and Anna Steiner.

After services the congregation is invited to the Oneg Shabbat sponsored by Dr. and Mrs. William Feldman and Mr. and Mrs. Joel Fox.

The Folk Dance class will hold its last session Thursday 8 p.m. The Temple Nursery School which will open in September has full enrollment for the afternoon session. The possibility of having morning sessions is being investigated. Parents interested in sending their 3 or 4 year old to a Jewish oriented nursery school three mornings a week may contact Sue Eichhorn or Tom Phillips.

Agudas Achim

Agudas Achim, an orthodox synagogue at 254 Lucas Avenue, is the only local synagogue that offers daily services. The weekday services are at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. The Friday night and Saturday night services are scheduled at sundown. The Saturday morning service is at 8:30 a.m. and Sunday 8 a.m. All services are conducted by Cantor Herman Slomovits. Sabbath candles will be lighted by 8:20 p.m. Friday.

This week's Bible reading is Korach which is found in chapters 16 through 18 of the Book of Numbers.

Concession Plan Revised In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES

The Saugerties Jaycees are trying something new this year for concession stands at the July 4 celebration.

Stands are usually manned by the Jaycees. However, this year stands are being run by other community service organizations. Participants thus far are Saugerties Band Boosters, Boy Scouts Troop 36 and Explorer Post 4.

The organizations will be coordinating the concessions and will share in the profits. The Jaycees are promoting more community participation in the July 4 celebration and this is viewed as another step toward that goal.

Genealogical Unit to Meet

HIGH FALLS

The next meeting of the Ulster County Genealogical Society 7 p.m. Monday, June 24, at the Community Church, High Falls.

The survey of old abandoned cemeteries has been discontinued for the summer. Those who contacted the society with locations of such cemeteries are advised that copying will be resumed in the fall.

Candidate: 'More Job Time Needed'

POUGHKEEPSIE
It's an old pitch in state political circles, but with enough validity to surface again year after year when hats are tossed into the ring —
"legislators do not spend enough time on the job."

It was said this time by Phil
Magnarella, Democratic candidiate for the 99th Assembly District.

Magnarella said that it is "impossible to deal with the number of bills that come before the legislature in the January to May session, especially when those bills are usually submitted to the Assembly in its final hours."

He commented, "Part-time
legislators formulate patch work solutions to full time problems," and he offered alternatives.

One alternative he suggested would be to establish a fall term of the legislature. "If a second session were established bills would not live or die on the basis of the capacity of legislators to deal with them," he said, adding that a summer interim would give legislators time to get feedback and to consider bills on their merits, while still not establishing a full time legislature.

"The reform of the property tax and the finance of education, court reform especially in the areas of automotive liability and divorce cases, and legislation that protects and provides for consumers cannot be solved by legislators who apply themselves to these problems during a part time session," he stated.

Completes Course

KINGSTON

Dr. Milton Chasin of 211
Hurley Avenue has recently completed the 9-month course at the Gesell Institute of Child Development. He was one of 17
Optometrists selected from all over the United States to attend the program. During the 9 month period, he had the opportunity of studying with all members of the Gesell Institute staff. During the year, Dr.
Chasin had the opportunity of studying the theory and practice of Optometry as it relates to Child Development. He received a certification at a dinner
following the final day of class.

Baserunning the Way It Shouldn't Be Done

By The Associated Press
Anybody home? Who's on first? Why? Don't ask. Even Abbott and Costello couldn't have explained this mess.

With a daftness that brought back memories of those wild Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants the new, improved Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants elevated the art of baserunning to new highs.

Or, depending on your point of view, dumped it down to new lows.

Things like San Diego rookie Dan Spillner's one-hit 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs were almost overlooked, as were the "commonplace" victories by Montreal, 4-2 over Cincinnati; Atlanta, 5-0 over New York; and Philadelphia, 5-4 over Houston.

In the first inning of the Dodgers' game in Pittsburgh Wednesday night, which the Pirates won 7-3, Lee Lacy of Los Angeles was on third, Jimmy Wynn on second and Ron Cey on first, as Jerry Reuss fired a two-out, full-count pitch to Joe Ferguson.

Strike three? Ferguson thought so. So did catcher Manny Sanguillen, flipping the ball toward the mound. And so, unfortunately, did Lacy, jogging toward the Dodgers' dugout.

Strike three? Nope. Ball four. Wynn, on third by this time, took off for home but was tagged out by the catcher—Sanguillen, who then relayed it to Richie Hebner at third, who stepped on the bag.

Lacy suddenly realized what was going on and dashed headlong to the plate, where Hebner threw to Sanguillen, who tagged Lacy.

Chief umpire Ed Sudol finally ruled that Wynn was out when he touched home because he technically passed Lacy on the basepath. And Lacy was entitled to home because of the bases-loaded walk, even though he was near the dugout when Wynn was out.

And what's more, the umpire added, Lacy was immune to a tag. So he scored when he slid home, even though Sanguillen tagged him and even though Wynn had already made the last out of the inning.

The Pirates overcame the Dodgers' 3-1 lead to win.

Giants 5, Cardinals 4
The Giants had a play to match.

In the third inning, Giant Garry Maddox was on first when Ed Goodson hit a Bob Gibson pitch to deep center field. Bake McBride leaped for it at the 400-foot sign on the wall, and seemingly caught it. But the ball fell out, over the eight-foot high wall.

What was it? A two-run homer for Goodson? Maddox stopped at second base. Then he circled back toward first, thinking the ball was caught. It was thrown back over the wall, onto the playing field, by a stadium attendant.

Goodson passed him between first and second and was called out for passing Maddox. Then Maddox took off again, coming around the bases—the right way. He crossed home and Goodson was credited with a run-scoring single.

Bobby Bonds of the Giants and Jose Cruz of the Cardinals traded three-run homers and Tito Fuentes broke a 4-4 tie with a seventh-inning single to give San Francisco the victory.

Padres 1, Cubs 0
Spillner called his one-hitter his best game ever, and, if he had had luck, would have had a no-hitter against the Cubs.

Rick Monday's third-inning line drive ricocheted off Spillner, and he made it to first.

Expos 4, Reds 2
Ron Hunt's bases-loaded tie-breaking single and Tim Lincecum's sacrifice fly gave the Expos a two-run edge in the fourth inning—which rookie relief pitcher John Montague made stand.

Phillies 5, Astros 4
Mike Schmidt had three singles and drove home two runs and Jim Lonborg pitched his fifth straight victory in the Phillies victory over Houston.

By United Press International
Steven Lee Busby has that little something extra, which could be called potential greatness.

The 24-year-old righthander of the Kansas City Royals, tabbed by many to be baseball's next pitching superstar, made history Wednesday night when he became the first pitcher in major league annals to hurl a no-hitter in each of his first two seasons.

Busby, who no-hit the Detroit Tigers on April 23 of his rookie season last year, stunned the Milwaukee Brewers this time, 2-0, and came close to tossing the first perfect game in the majors since 1968. Only a walk to George Scott in the third inning deprived him of that achievement.

As it was, Busby's no-hitter was the first tossed at Milwaukee's County Stadium since Hall of Famer Warren Spahn of the old Milwaukee Braves blanked the San Francisco Giants, 1-0, in 1961. It was also the first no-hitter in the majors this season.

Busby was in such complete control that only four balls were hit out of the infield, but, as in most no-hit games, he did need some defensive help to protect it. He got two good plays one from rightfielder Al Cowens in the fourth inning and another from second baseman Cookie Rojas in the eighth.

Cowens made a fine running catch on the warning track in right-center off a long fly ball hit by Scott in the fourth and Rojas went sprawling on the ground in the eighth inning to take a base hit away from designated-hitter Bob Hansen.

"I thought Hansen's grounder was a base hit. Cookie's play on that one made it. It was super," said Busby.

Busby admitted he began thinking about the no-hitter in the fifth inning. "But I was fighting hard after that to keep my concentration," he said. "I had good stuff from the beginning."

It is not really surprising that Busby has accomplished so much in such a short time. Busby, who won 16 games last year and was selected as the American League's top rookie pitcher, was picked for greatness when he signed with Kansas City off the campus of Southern California in 1971.

When Royals' manager Jack McKeon came back from the World Series last year he summarized Busby's potential this way: "I saw (Tom) Seaver for the first time in the World Series. I have to believe Busby has a chance to be as good or better."

In other AL games, Baltimore edged Minnesota 6-5, Chicago routed Cleveland 15-4, Detroit topped Texas 4-2 in 11 innings, New York 2-1 in 11, California 2-1 and Boston 2-1 in 11.

Orlando 6, Twins 5
Brooks Robinson drove across three runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Orioles to a three-game sweep of the Twins, raising his average to .330, hit a two-run double in the fourth inning, singled during a two-run sixth and led the Yankees and California Angels open a busy prospective doctor George Medich scattered seven hits and struck out nine to improve his record to 8-5 and prompt him to say he's back on the winning road.

The Angels, although they had men on base in every inning except the third and stranded eight runners, dropped a 2-1 decision Wednesday night at the University of Pittsburgh Stadium last week. Medich said, "I had a much better fastball and I was getting the breaking pitch over. The Angels just kept coming at me and I had to grit my teeth and make good pitches."

"That guy Medich is a good pitcher, but we had a chance to beat him," said Angels' Manager Bobby Winkles.

Winkles referred to the fact that the winning run was led the Tigers over the Rangers. A walk to Mickey Stanley and a single by Gerry Moses preceded Brinkman's hit off reliever Steve Foucault and snapped starter Jackie Brown's five-game winning streak. Ben Oglivie homered for Detroit and Duke Sims connected for Texas.

A's 2, Red Sox 1
Bob Montgomery's bases loaded sacrifice fly in the 11th inning enabled the A's to edge the Red Sox. Luis Tiant went 10 innings, allowing only three hits, to win his ninth game while Vida Blue suffered his seventh loss in 13 decisions.

Danny Cater homered for Boston while Gene Tenace homered for Oakland.

Mathews Credits His Pitching Coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ask National League's Western Manager Eddie Mathews to title.

"I don't worry about the Reds or the Dodgers," said Mathews. "I got enough to take care of my own club. They can do what they want. We're just going to continue playing our game and watch the standings."

Capra allowed three hits in 5 2-3 innings before House came out of the bullpen to retire Duffy Dyer with the bases filled and two out in the sixth inning.

House went on to retire nine men in order to preserve Capra's seventh win against two losses and gain his fifth save.

Capra, who beat his former teammates for the first time, started a two-run fifth inning rally with a single off loser Jon Matlack. Raph Garr hit into a force out and stole second base and Darrell Evans walked before Dusty Baker snapped the scoreless tie with a single.

Hank Aaron was intentionally walked to the boss of the crowd of 24,159 and Dave Johnson hit a sacrifice fly driving in the second run of the inning.

Pinch-hitter Mike Lum knocked in the second run with a bases-filled forceout in the eighth inning and the Braves added two more in the ninth on singles by Garr and Rowland Office sandwiched around a walk plus second baseman Felix Millan's throwing error.

Homer Contest Between Aaron and Japan's Oh?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hank Aaron smiles over the suggestion of a home run hitting contest between him and Japan's Babe Ruth, but if Sadaharu Oh wants one, he'll oblige.

Not now, though.

Oh, Tokyo's Yomiuri Giants first baseman, has hit 600 home runs in 16 seasons and said in Japan he would not mind competing against Aaron in a one-on-one home run hitting contest.

Neither would Aaron.

"I don't think it would prove anything," said the Atlanta Braves record holder, "but if that's what he wants to do, I'll accommodate him, either here or in Japan."

Oh is 34 years old but Aaron said, "I think there's a very good chance of his hitting over 700 if he stays healthy."

If a home run contest is to be arranged between him and Oh, Aaron said it would probably have to be sometime in November.

Oh sent a special autographed baseball with his personal congratulations to Aaron for breaking Babe Ruth's record, and the ball was presented to the Braves' leftfielder before Wednesday's 5-0 victory over the Mets.

LAST RACE — Nine-year-old Coup Landing, with Robyn Smith up, gallops under the wire to win first race at Belmont Park Wednesday by two lengths. ## Horse Wins, Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coup Landing, a 9-year-old gelding that was a half-brother to 1972 Kentucky Derby winner Riva Ridge, was one horse who didn't die in the stretch — he waited until after his picture was taken in the winner's circle.

He won the first race at Belmont Park Wednesday, but never made it back to the barn. Both Riva Ridge and Coup Landing had the same sire, First Landing. Coup Landing had raced three times this year, winning his last start and finishing third in another, and was ridden to a two-length victory in the six-furlong claimer by jockey Robyn C. Smith to pay $6.20.

The horse had been a multiple stakes winner in his career, but had been sidelined the previous two years with a leg injury. Trainer Allen Jerkens began a comeback with the horse on June 5 when he entered Coup Landing in a $13,000 claiming race in which he finished third. He then won a claiming race for $18,000 and stepped up to a $25,000 claimer which he won today. It was while standing in the winner's circle that Coup Landing dropped dead of a heart attack.

After the pictures, Coup Landing toppled over, but stood up again. Then he got to his knees again and finally went over on his side.

Dr. Manuel A. Gilman, Belmont's resident veterinarian, had groomed the horse down with water, then he attempted resuscitation, working on the horse's chest, but to no avail.

"I guess today he ran too big," said Jerkens.

"Coup Landing was a game horse and real nice to ride," said Miss Smith. "He always gave me everything he had and I never finished worse than second with him the seven times I rode him."

"I don't like to see any horse go the way he did, but Coup Landing had so much class in him, so easy to handle. I'm sad about it all and sad because I won't be able to ride him again. I think he was the second oldest horse racing in New York."

The only older horse than Coup Landing racing here is 10-year-old Tradesman.

It has happened in the past that a horse has died while running, or just after crossing the finish line, but nobody at Belmont could remember when a horse had died in the winner's circle.

"I've seen some peculiar sights," said paddock judge Bill O'Connor, "but nothing like this one. I never saw a horse die in the winner's circle."

"Neither have I," said Dr. Gilman.

Garden Offers Foster Rematch With Ahumada

Manager Lou Viscusi said Foster said Wednesday that he felt he may have overtrained for the Ahumada fight and predicted that he could easily beat the challenger if they fight again.

Foster and Ahumada fought to a controversial draw Monday night at Albuquerque. Ahumada's supporters claimed it was a prejudiced hometown decision.

Viscusi denied reports that Foster has received an offer of $150,000 to meet Ahumada Sept. 13 in Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale, N.Y.

Cage Merger Appears Remote

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association probably will elect a new commissioner today, but the possibility of a merger Thursday between the NBA and American Basketball Association appears to be more remote.

The NBA Board of Governors met in an executive session, where the owners meet without the presence of the commissioner — "the first in the 11 years I've been commissioner," NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy said — for more than nine hours Wednesday without reaching a decision for a successor between the two men under final consideration.

Kennedy is the current NBA commissioner, but has indicated that he will serve no longer than the June 1, 1975 expiration of his contract.

The two candidates to fill the NBA's top administrative spot are 35-year-old Alan Rothenberg, whose firm represents the Los Angeles Lakers and who is a member of the league board of directors, and 41-year-old Henry Steinman, who played for John Wooden at UCLA from 1951-54. Both men are Los Angeles-based attorneys.

Approval of 14 of the 18 members of the Board of Governors is required for the naming of the new commissioner — as well as any NBA-ABA merger.

A source who wished to remain unidentified said that Steinman had received 13 votes, one shy of the needed number to get the title. Kennedy was present when the executive session began, opening the meeting to set the ground rules, but then he left to remain in his suite while the owners talked.

He was called back to the meeting once during the day and again at about 6:15 and he said later that he "made it very clear to the owners, who were apparently stalemated, that under no circumstances would I remain as commissioner beyond June 1, 1975, and I urged them to take definite action as quickly as possible, even before the end of the day — to take some action to name a successor."

"Twelve years is more than enough to ask of a human being to devote his time and whatever talent he has to being commissioner of the NBA. I want to devote my time to my family, and the things I enjoy doing."

Although 14 votes are needed to name a new commissioner, only nine votes would be required to retain Kennedy.

6th Homer for Burr; Shutout for Connors

ROSENDALE Jeff Burr slammed his sixth homer of the season to pace Red Sox to a 7-4 victory over the Tigers in the Rondout Valley Little League.

Brian Cesaratto, the winning pitcher, helped his own cause with two doubles. David Rask hit a double. Don DiPaauw collected two of the three hits off Cesaratto with a single and double.

The Pirates broke up a scoreless tie with four runs in the top of the fifth to beat the Mets 4-1. After two walks, Keith Perry singled to load the bases.

Then with two out and two on, Paul Perry doubled two runs home and completed the circuit on two wild throws. The Perry's combined for a 1-hitter and fanned 12 between them.

Andrew Connors of Smedes Heating and Plumbing hurled a three-hit shutout to zip Montgomery Ward in the American Little League. Eddy Brown and Terry Folwell had single-double combinations for Smedes.

Vince Costello hit a homer, double and single to pace Shults.

Paint Mets to a 6-1 win over Canfield Electric Giants in the Kingston National League. Bob Slover pitched a 3-hitter and struck out 11 for the Mets.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you'll derive enjoyment from the quiet things. Hanging around with one too active will cause disruptions you can do without.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll be better off doing what you please you, rather than attempting a task that your heart isn't in.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you don't lock your budget down tight today, you're going to spend some funds frivolously that you've set aside for more practical purposes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This can be a fun day if you let an insignificant problem overwhelm your thoughts. Treat yourself to something nice.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll spare yourself annoyance if you steer clear of one who always upsets your plans in order to satisfy his own interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Try to cover your present needs with what you have at hand. Don't bank on new sources that have yet to prove they can produce.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't make changes at the present where your work or career is concerned. You could be your own worst enemy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be lucky for yourself and others today, if those you're involved with let you call the shots.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll fare very well if you deal solely with those close to you. Tieups with outsiders could be costly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll get all the cooperation you need if you let others know that what you want is not for you alone, but for them as well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your rewards will come only if you finish what you start. Don't jump from one project to another.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're lucky today as long as you bet only on sure things. Taking a chance on something you're not familiar with will prove flop.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

MALADJUSTED: (Q) My daughter is 16½. She didn't want to go to school here and ran away for three days. She is now living with my sister in another state. She has been overweight since she was a child. Lately she has been rebelling against going to church. She is not allowed to date. We feel she has too many adjustments to make—new home, new school, etc.—to add the problem of having a boy friend. Could you advise us?—Worried Mother in New York.

(A) For most 16½-year-old girls a boy friend is hardly a problem. Having a boy friend, or being permitted to date boys, tends to make most girls less rebellious and usually helps them to adjust to the problems of life. I urge you to consider this aspect of teenage life. It might help ease your daughter's overweight and her other manifestations of frustration and rebellion.

LONG LONGING: (Q) All I do is just stare, stare at other boys, wishing I could wear my hair the way they do. At night I pray that maybe my parents will say I can let my hair grow. But they don't. They still say no. I can't wait until I go to college so I can live and LOOK like I want to. I'm being mentally tortured by my parents. Please help me!—Persecuted in Pennsylvania.

(A) Your parents have strong feelings about long hair and are unbending about it. Do not persecute yourself about this. Instead, look forward to the time when you can live your own life. And spend the time now constructively and sensibly preparing for that time.

Terence Reese's reputation as one of the great players is so secure that he can kid himself on occasion. We quote in part from his description of today's hand.

"The game was a mixed pair event. My partner's three notrump was an effort to get a top and my jump to six notrump was precipitous to say the least. I really should have bid four diamonds and continued with a cue bid in spades, which would have got us to a safe seven diamonds.

"West couldn't stand prosperity and doubled. It was now too late to experiment with diamonds and obviously six notrump was not going to make so I ran to seven clubs. West doubled merely because she was mad about my getting out of six notrump.

"The play at seven clubs was quite easy. I ruffed the spade lead and after cashing all the clubs and diamonds found myself and with the ace-queen of hearts and dummy with the queen of spades and heart. West discarded a heart on the last diamond so painfully that I knew she had blanked the king and that was all for the defense."

Nixon Briefs Leaders on Mideast Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, keeping up the pace he followed on the last 10 days, scheduled meetings with congressional leaders and administration officials today to discuss his diplomatic accomplishments in the Middle East and plans for the Moscow summit.

Nixon arrived in Washington Wednesday afternoon, then unwound in a two-hour evening dinner cruise on the Potomac River with his wife and children.

In a schedule almost as tight as those on his five-country Mideast tour, Nixon planned an early briefing for congressional leaders from both parties, a Cabinet meeting and a National Security Council session.

He originally had planned to fly to Key Biscayne, Fla., tonight to prepare for his June 25 meeting with NATO leaders in Brussels and his June 27 visit to the Soviet Union. Aides said Nixon now planned to stay near Washington — either in the White House or his Camp David, Md., retreat — to consult with administration officials.

In addition to his summit conference, aides said Nixon planned to visit Europe again and go to Japan, filling the summer with diplomacy. He would then be out of town—but still making headlines—while Congress considers his impeachment.

While neither the President nor Vice President Gerald R. Ford mentioned it during ceremonies on the White House lawn Wednesday, the welcoming remarks indicated Nixon's diplomatic activities might become a defense against impeachment, asking Congress, "how can you remove from office a President that has contributed to peace to the world?"

"I am . . . confident, Mr. President, that the American people will stand tall and strong as they now move forward in the efforts to achieve the peace that you have worked so strenuously to lay the groundwork for, not only in the Middle East but in Europe and Southeast Asia," Ford said.

"The American people will be united. They will be tall and they will back you as they have in the past, in seeking the peace that is sought by all," he said.

"This trip now comes to an end," Nixon replied, "but it is only the beginning of a much longer journey, a journey that will be difficult, a journey that has many pitfalls potentially ahead, but one that is worth taking, a journey on which we are embarked and on which we will continue, a journey toward a lasting peace, not only in the Mideast but all over the world."

White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig told reporters flying back on Air Force One that the President "achieved all the objectives set forth" on the tour, which included resumption of diplomatic relations with Syria, economic aid agreements with all five Mideast countries and promises of nuclear power plants for Egypt and Israel.

One central problem in the Middle East is unsolved — Palestinian Arabs forced from their homes by the creation of Israel. Diplomatic sources said Arab leaders promised the Palestinians to try to pressure Israel, through Nixon, to make concessions, in return for promises by radical Arabs not to cause embarrassment during Nixon's trip.

Each of the leaders Nixon met mentioned the Palestine problem—some flatly calling it the key to peace—but Nixon never replied. Haig declined to say whether Israel had indicated any willingness to make concessions on the Palestinian problem.

Congress might give Nixon some diplomatic troubles. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., introduced legislation Wednesday to require congressional approval of the nuclear offer for Israel and Egypt, and a major debate was expected.

"Congress," Proxmire said, "cannot stand by and allow this proposed agreement or future agreements to go into effect without an expression of support or denial."

Nixon's schedule now forces him to set these problems aside and take on new ones in next week's trip.

"For the last six days, we have been preoccupied with the problems of the Middle East," he said before leaving the Azores. "But now, as we return to the United States, we will refocus our attention on two other crucial areas of the world — Europe and the Soviet Union."

HENRY AND FRIEND—Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who a few hours earlier returned to the nation's capital from a NATO conference in Canada and the Middle East peace journey with President Nixon, took time out to attend a reception of Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio. Here Kissinger enjoys a laugh with daringly dressed Patricia Robbins, a secretary in Hays office. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

An Agreement Reached in Italy

ROME (UPI) — Premier Mariano Rumor's shaky coalition government avoided collapse Wednesday night, overcoming bitter internal differences and approving a compromise package of measures to fight inflation and unemployment.

Francesco De Martino, leader of the Socialist party, said the cabinet coalition reached agreement "both in the economic field and in that of a new commitment to the anti-Fascist struggle."

Government leaders said Rumor's Christian Democrats, the Socialists and other coalition members agreed in principle on higher taxes and electricity rates to drain some of the excess purchasing power and fight inflation.

At the same time, they decided to ease the existing credit squeeze and provide financing, especially for export industries.

The Socialists had opposed continuation of the squeeze, saying it would mean bankruptcy for thousands of small businesses and unemployment for possibly two million workers.

The dispute over the economy had threatened last week to topple the government.

"The tax levy and the increase in electricity rates represent a considerable sacrifice for those with fixed incomes, that is, the majority of Italians," Social Democratic parliamentary leader Antonio Cariglia said after the meeting.

"The government certainly realizes this, but in my opinion this sacrifice will be acceptable if citizens feel they are better governed," Cariglia said.

Budget Minister Antonio Giolitti said the tax and price hikes were meant to provide a $4.6 billion increase in revenue to drain excess purchasing power, stem inflation and keep the trade deficit from getting out of hand.

The cost of living has been rising at an annual rate of nearly 20 per cent, and the trade deficit — mainly caused by high oil prices and large meat imports for newly affluent Italians — is approaching $1 billion a month.

Rumor offered his resignation last week because of the coalition fight with the Socialists, but President Giovanni Leone rejected it, saying another government collapse would only make the economy worse.

Italy has had 36 government changes since World War II.

Senate Opposition to Nuclear Proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's proposal to provide Egypt and Israel with nuclear power plants has run into opposition in the Senate.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., Wednesday introduced legislation which would require approval by the Senate and House before the power plants and fuel are sent to the two Middle East nations.

A similar proposal was defeated overwhelmingly in the House Tuesday when Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., tried to tie it to an appropriations bill.

Under present law, the agreements would go into effect automatically 60 days after they are submitted to Congress unless the Senate and House voted to disapprove them.

Under Proxmire's legislation, which would be retroactive to June 1, the agreements could not go into effect until the Senate and House approved them.

Proxmire said "some extraordinary questions" about the agreements have not been answered. "With such momentous issues as yet unresolved, the Congress cannot stand by and allow this proposed agreement . . . or any future agreements to go into effect without an expression of support or denial," he said.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he would work against any agreement dealing with nuclear materials for Egypt and Israel unless Congress approves. "My answer to the U.S. Egyptian atomic power deal is wariness," he declared.

Reservations were voiced by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who said that the more nuclear power plants the United States provides other countries, "the greater the risk that an accident might destroy all of us."

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said sending nuclear power plants to Egypt and Israel was "like exporting the black plague."

Israelis Bomb Palestinian Refugee Camps

By The Associated Press

Israeli planes bombed and rocketed five Palestinian refugee camps in south Lebanon today, the Lebanese Defense Ministry said. Unofficial reports said at least 40 persons were killed or wounded.

The Lebanese government issued radio appeals for "urgent blood donations of all types."

Reporting by telephone from Sidon, Lebanon's third largest city, Basho said the Israeli planes came over in pairs at 11:30 a.m. to attack the Ein el Hilweh camp on the southern edge of the city.

Telephone reports from Tyre said the town's three camps were on fire, he said.

During another call 45 minutes later, Basho suddenly shouted: "My God, this place is shaking. They're back again. Hang up. I have to take shelter."

Ten minutes later he reported the Sidon camp had been hit again.

Local authorities in Sidon reported at least 25 persons were killed or wounded in the first attack on Ein el Hilweh, and Sidon hospitals reported at least 15 more in the second strike.

Lebanese anti-aircraft guns in both Sidon and Tyre opened up on the raiders, and there was anti-aircraft fire from the Sidon refugee camp also. But an Israeli communiqué said all planes returned safely.

The guerrillas, who administer the refugee camps in Lebanon independent of the Lebanese government, cordoned off Ein el Hilweh immediately after the first raid. Newsmen and photographers were turned back as ambulances raced in and out.

Israeli military sources said the raids, which began Tuesday just as Nixon was leaving the Middle East, were to wipe out guerrilla training bases and headquarters and disrupt plans for new terrorist attacks on Israeli settlements.

Beirut newspapers reported 50 guerrillas were killed and 60 were wounded in the raids. But Wafa, the Palestinian news agency, said this was "fantastically exaggerated" and the toll was four or five Palestinians injured.

Earlier the Lebanese government had reported one Palestinian killed.

Meanwhile, Egypt and Syria called a summit conference in Cairo today to map a joint strategy for peace in the Middle East following the historic U.S.-negotiated agreements to stop decades of conflict with Israel.

Government sources in Cairo said Syrian President Hafez Assad planned to meet Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in the Mediterranean resort city of Alexandria to discuss proposals for Middle East settlement.

The sources said the two leaders would discuss President Nixon's recently concluded tour of five Middle East countries and action to follow the
